

RUSSELL DECIDES TO CALL EXTRA SESSION IF TEXAS GOVERNOR TAKES SIMILAR ACTION

Sturdivant in Lead on Eve of Police Board Meeting

ACTION EXPECTED TONIGHT ON MAN FOR CHIEF'S POST

Opposition Fails To Develop Against Lieutenant, Known for Successful Campaigns He Has Waged Against Crime.

PRIVATE SESSION OF BOARD DENIED

Richards Says Group Will Not Meet Until Tonight. Beavers Reported as Favoring Sturdivant.

With a meeting of the police committee scheduled for 7:30 o'clock tonight, at which time a successor to Chief James L. Beavers may be elected, Detective Lieutenant T. O. Sturdivant Wednesday appeared to be far in the van as a candidate for the post the police board is seeking to have Beavers vacate.

Beavers, who has recently assigned Sturdivant to the difficult task of rounding up desperadoes and checking the current epidemic of burglaries, was reported Wednesday as favoring the detective lieutenant for his job and as being willing to retire gracefully if assured Sturdivant would supplant him. The chief later denied that any agreement had been reached.

The police committee first must solve the problem of unseating Beavers before it can carry out its desire to put a "younger and more vigorous man on the job."

Indications from all sides, following publication in The Constitution Wednesday that Sturdivant is the only candidate for the post who has not developed opposition, in high places, were that the detective lieutenant is rapidly gaining in favor as the logical man for chief and that in the showdown he is likely to win out.

Members of the police committee will meet at 6:30 o'clock tonight with Beavers at the police station to carry out their promise to meet with him and they would confer with the chief before going further into the matter. The conference will precede the regular meeting of the committee at 7:30 o'clock. Members of the committee have agreed, it was reported, that there will be no secret caucuses of the committee prior to the meeting with Beavers.

Two members of the committee are said to have strong personal preference for O. H. Pendley, secretary of the department, although one of these members has declared that his mind is entirely open on the subject of a successor to Beavers. Two other members are said to be without a personal choice and willing to give Sturdivant serious consideration, while the attitude of the fifth member of the committee is said to be doubtful, giving him a possible balance of power in a choice. Sturdivant, while not the first choice of the two members favoring Pendley, stands a chance of winning their votes if they find themselves unable to force Pendley's election as chief, the two members not having anything against Sturdivant, but merely preferring to give Pendley their support, it was said.

May Ask More Time. After the committee delivers its ultimatum to "resign or be forced out" to Beavers tonight, the chief may ask for time in which to reply to the committee, setting out his position and his reasons for refusing to retire, unless a definite agreement on Sturdivant is reached, it was said.

Reports that the police committee was in a secret session Wednesday afternoon were denied by Alderman Alvin L. Richards, chairman, who said that the committee will not meet until tonight.

"Of course, I have conferred with members of the committee at various times during the day, but one at a time, and we have not held a meeting today," Richards said. "There is a member of the committee in my office now, but we are not having a session of the committee."

Chief Beavers Wednesday was not in a talkative mood in so far as the committee was concerned.

Will He Call Extra Session of Texas Legislature?

It's up to Governor Sterling, of Texas. If he calls an extraordinary session of the Texas legislature to take up the cotton plan of Governor Long, of Louisiana, then Governor Russell will immediately call into session, this third year, the general assembly of Georgia. Here is Governor Long's cotton bill, presented to Governor Sterling by O. K. Allen, chairman of the Louisiana highway commission, who flew from the Louisiana state capital to Texas to present the bill to the Texas governor. The photo shows (left to right) Governor Sterling, State Senator Walter Woodul and Commissioner Allen. Photo by Associated Press.

DEFICIT MOUNTS TO $396,365,000

Hoover Debates Measures for Solution of U. S. Financial Situation.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 2.—(AP)—The treasury deficit mounted to $396,365,000 today, while President Hoover sought to determine whether a tax increase or another bond issue was the remedy for the situation.

Discussing the same subject, Chairman Wood, of the house appropriations committee, which originates bills allocating funds to federal departments, said government expenditures for the next fiscal year would be cut drastically.

The treasury statement today showed receipts from all sources for July and August—the first two months of the 1932 fiscal year—amounted to $230,390,151. For the same period the outlay was $626,764,751. The resulting deficit was $396,365,000 greater than for the same period last year.

The nearly $400,000,000 deficit was due to an expanded public buildings program and further drops in receipts, including income taxes. The fluctuation of the latter recently led Secretary Mellon, of the treasury, and Undersecretary Miley to say a more stable basis was needed for the federal tax system.

Representative Wood said the trimming of expenditures should begin with the army and navy.

"Why in heaven's name should we build our navy up to the treaty limits when it will have nothing to do after we have built it?" he asked.

Asked about the possibility of increased expenditures by the farm

Fleeing Bandit Leaps Into Arms of Police

NEW YORK, Sept. 2.—(UP)—Ernest Pickford, stickup man, tried to hold up a Brooklyn shoe store today, met with resistance, grew skittish and dashed into the street. Gun in hand, Pickford leaped onto the running board of a passing car, leveled his pistol at the driver and shouted:

"Drive fast! Get me out of this neighborhood!"

Six hands grabbed Pickford and pulled him inside. He learned later that he had tried to commandeer a car occupied by a police shotgun squad.

CHILEAN SAILORS DEFY GOVERNMENT

Mutinous Crews Refuse To Turn Over Ships as Battle Looms.

SANTIAGO, Chile, Sept. 2.—(AP)—Air attack and coast defense plans were made by special board of strategy tonight while naval officials, with full powers, were conferring in Coquimbo harbor with leaders of the naval mutiny in an effort to quell the uprising peacefully.

The crews had thus far failed to show any inclination to accede to the government's demand that they turn over their ships they control and release the imprisoned officers.

The Chilean cabinet resigned late tonight and a special session of congress was called for 1 a. m. tomorrow to decide on the declaration of a state of siege, requested by Vice President Trucco.

Rear Admiral Edgardo von Schroeder is in charge of the negotiations. Vice Admiral Abel Campos, commander of the fleet, was reported to be a prisoner aboard one of the ships, along with a number of other officers.

The government proceeded today with plans to guard the coast points and to attack the fleet with airplanes and submarines if necessary. The submarine crews continued loyal.

A battleship, a cruiser and seven destroyers are involved in the uprising. About 3,000 men are aboard them.

Coquimbo was cut off from communication with the rest of the country today except through official channels.

The army and air corps were reported remaining loyal. It was predicted that if necessary the government would use the bombing division of 30 airplanes against the mutineers.

Juan Esteban Montero, candidate for president who has the support of many of the important elements in Chile, was asked to return to Santiago by special train from Valparaiso to assist the government in stamping out the mutiny.

The Chilean navy, which played an important part in the war of independence and the war with Peru, consists of two battleships, two armored cruisers, three light cruisers and seven destroyers.

M'DONALD CALLS SPECIAL SESSION OF PARLIAMENT

British Cabinet Will Ask Immediate Vote of Confidence at Opening on September 8.

BY VICTOR EUBANK.

LONDON, Sept. 2.—(AP)—The national cabinet completed its new taxation program at a five-hour meeting today, and a call was issued for parliament to meet in special session September 8 to enact the program into law.

The government made it clear there will be no dilly-dallying in the house of commons, by deciding to ask for a vote of confidence on the opening day of the session without explaining the economy and taxation program designed to cope with the national financial emergency.

Prime Minister Ramsay MacDonald will ask the house to declare without delay whether it will put its trust in the three-party administration he heads. Then, if the expected vote of confidence is forthcoming, Philip Snowden, chancellor of the exchequer, will make a full statement setting forth the entire budget balancing scheme. This probably will come the second day of the session.

Mr. Snowden will make his appearance before parliament on Thursday it was learned authoritatively tonight.

Mr. MacDonald today informed his constituents at Seaham Harbor that he proposed to retain his parliamentary seat until he has disposed of the financial emergency.

Beer, wines, tobacco, theaters, movies, cricket, horse racing and all amusements are expected to bear increased taxation. It is believed, however, that the government will go lighter on beer than anything else because it is the beverage of the low wage worker.

The tide of opposition against Prime Minister MacDonald and his parliamentary economy program was deflected by newspapers today to turning in his favor.

They noted increasing signs that many who followed the premier with devotion in yesterday are experiencing heartburnings over the split in the labor party and what has been described as the dictation of trade union socialists.

Some laborite candidates for the next election have written to assure him that he can count on their adherence and suggesting the formation of a new party to oppose the old labor machine. An unnamed laborite M. P. was quoted by the Daily Express as saying he had found that nine-tenths of local executives agreed with Mr. MacDonald's program, but could not openly support him.

The secretary said a fifth student may be asked to resign. His case still is under consideration. He added that there were several cases of misconduct in which lesser punishments were meted out.

The infractions occurred on this summer's training cruise of the first and third classes to Europe. Their nature was not disclosed, but Secretary Adams said they did not involve any illegal acts, but were confined to violations of naval rules.

Bank Probers Vote Secret Indictments

KNOXVILLE, Tenn., Sept. 2.—(AP) Secret indictments charging violation of the federal banking laws by two persons formerly connected with the closed Holston Union National bank were returned by a federal grand jury today. One indictment of 11 counts charged misapplication of about $220,000 of the bank's funds, while another indictment of nine counts charged misapplication with alleged aiding and abetting by a second party. The court ordered names of defendants withheld until capias are served.

Queen Marie Faces Immediate Operation

VIENNA, Sept. 2.—(UP)—Queen Marie, of Rumania, mother of King Carol, is seriously ill and must undergo an operation at once, the Tel. koms Agency reported today.

Next Move Put Up to Texas

Governor Russell's statement on the cotton situation Wednesday follows:

"As it is now apparent that neither the federal farm board nor the national government is likely to take any immediate steps to alleviate the desperate condition confronting the cotton farmers of the south, the best thought of the people of the cotton producing states, or the governments of such states, may afford some relief before this year's cotton crop has passed from the hands of the producer at the present ruinous prices.

"In the belief that congress should be convened to cope with the situation, I urged President Hoover to call an extra session. It was my hope that the national government would take some steps to avert the present crisis, but the recent announcement of the federal farm board and the apparent disposition of the present national administration to let matters drift, lead to the conclusion that we cannot expect any succor from Washington.

"The situation is critical, but it will never be solved in a spirit of excitement and hysteria. It must be obvious to all that it will require unanimous and concerted action on the part of the governments of all the cotton growing states to obtain any results and that it would be folly to undertake to legislate on the subject in Georgia, standing midway in production among the states that grow cotton, if Texas, producing approximately one-third of the total crop produced, refuses to take any action. For the states east of the Mississippi river to act independently of their sister states of the west would merely mean that we had retired from the cotton producing field forever or, if legislation were enacted dependent upon concurrence by the western states and they should fail to act, it would be a total waste of thousands of dollars of tax money paid by the people of Georgia.

"I have been in communication with Governor Sterling of Texas, and have informed him that I would convene the general assembly of Georgia into extraordinary session immediately upon his calling the Texas legislature to consider the matter. Thus far Governor Sterling has not reached a decision. The Georgia legislature can act as rapidly as that of any other state, and it is very evident that it would be a useless expenditure of tax money to have an extraordinary session in Georgia if there is no likelihood of Texas and other states doing the same thing.

"The center of cotton production is moving west very rapidly and action by the states east of the Mississippi river to prohibit cotton in 1932, unless it be general over the cotton belt, would not improve the price of cotton and would cause thousands of our people, who are accustomed to cotton farming, to migrate to the west.

"I am endeavoring to keep in close touch with the situation in Texas and am prepared to call an extraordinary session immediately upon such action there, in an effort to provide any relief it is possible for the state to afford.

"In the meantime, it would appear to be wise for all cotton farmers who can possibly do so to withhold the sale of any cotton until there are further developments."

TALMADGE DEFES REFUND DEMANDS

Napier to Confer With Governor Today To De- cide Filing of Suit.

Attorney-General George M. Napier will decide today, probably after a conference with Governor Russell, whether or not he will institute a suit against Eugene Talmadge and the latter's bonding company to recover $14,136.68, representing a loss sustained in the bureau of markets, and $1,600 in salary paid to John A. Peterson, his stepson. Talmadge Wednesday declined a formal request of the assistant attorney-general, T. R. Gress, for a return of these sums to the treasury.

Gress made a demand on Talmadge in compliance with a senate resolution which directed the governor "to have instituted, at the name of the state, legal proceedings to recover from the said Eugene Talmadge and his bondsmen the said monies." Governor Russell had transmitted the resolution, Gress said, to the attorney-general with a request that he make an investigation and ascertain whether a suit were necessary to protect the interests of the state.

Action To Be Held Up. When Talmadge, in a three-page letter dictated in the presence of the assistant attorney-general, refused to make a refund either of the $14,136.68 disbursed from the bureau of markets without authority of law, and the $1,600 which the senate found had been improperly paid to his stepson, Gress said that further action would be held up until the attorney-general decided the question of a suit.

It is likely, Gress indicated, that the committee's chief recommendation to the commission may be summarized thus:

The ultimate goal of efforts for economic alleviation should be to make Europe a single market for the products of all countries of the world. This contemplates the development of an economic and customs union embracing all Europe.

The League of Nations should take a more active part in facilitating the issue of state loans of an international character.

The European commission should study the proposal for creating an international bank for granting long-term credits.

DEPRESSION LAID TO PSYCHOLOGY

European Economic Body Says No Single Remedy Will Bring Relief.

GENEVA, Sept. 2.—(AP)—The economic co-ordinating committee of the European commission declared tonight that the psychological factor dominates the economic crisis throughout the world and that no single remedy is likely to bring relief from the prevailing difficulty.

The committee's declaration was made in a statement adopting recommendations which will be submitted to the commission in plenary session tomorrow.

In proposing a number of measures for improving the present condition of international commerce, industry and finance, the committee called on the politicians to spread through the world, by all possible means, "a general feeling of confidence."

"It would seem to be necessary," the group of statesmen and economists agreed, "to discard every preconceived opinion, to be guided by experience and to seek remedies wherever there seems to be a chance of finding them."

The committee's chief recommendation to the commission may be summarized thus:

The ultimate goal of efforts for economic alleviation should be to make Europe a single market for the products of all countries of the world. This contemplates the development of an economic and customs union embracing all Europe.

The League of Nations should take a more active part in facilitating the issue of state loans of an international character.

The European commission should study the proposal for creating an international bank for granting long-term credits.

DECISION REACHED AFTER DISCUSSION WITH LEGISLATORS

Sterling Said To Have Arrived at No Conclu- sion, But Extra Session Call in Texas Expected Momentarily.

PLAN FOR SESSION OPPOSED BY FEW

Governor Urges Farmers To Hold Cotton and Scores Hoover for "Let- ting Things Drift."

Governor Richard B. Russell Jr. Wednesday decided definitely that he would call an extra session of the Georgia legislature to consider a cotton holiday in 1932 immediately after a similar call is made by Governor Ross Sterling, of Texas, but not until then. The executive made his announcement after consulting a number of members of the assembly who called on him Wednesday morning and after reading telegrams from most of the others.

Late Wednesday Governor Sterling had arrived at no decision, although reports relayed through the office of Eugene Talmadge, commissioner of agriculture, from the Texas capital indicated that the session might be called momentarily. The state senate of Texas is to convene September 10 to consider an impeachment matter and J. E. McDonald, Texas commissioner of agriculture, informed Talmadge that the house might be called at the same time so that both branches might take up cotton legislation within the next 10 days.

Describing the situation as critical and one of "in a spirit of excitement and hysteria," Governor Russell in his statement reviewed his appeal to Washington, declared that if the states east of the Mississippi river were to act independently of those west of the river it would mean their retirement forever from the cotton-producing ranks.

"I have been in communication with Governor Sterling, of Texas, and have informed him that I would convene the general assembly immediately upon his calling the Texas legislature to consider the matter. Thus far Governor Sterling has not reached a decision. The Georgia legislature can act as rapidly as that of any other state and it is very evident that it would be a useless expenditure of tax money to have an extraordinary session in Georgia if there is no likelihood of Texas and other states doing the same thing."

In his statement Governor Russell urged all farmers to withhold the sale of any cotton "until there are further developments." He also urged the cotton growers to hold their cotton until there are further developments.

More than a dozen members of the general assembly, some of them here primarily on other business, discussed the cotton situation with Governor Russell Wednesday. A majority of them declared for an extra session.

BOSTON POLICE HOLD TENNESSEE SUSPECT

BOSTON, Sept. 2.—(P)—John H. Taylor, formerly of New Bedford, to day was arrested here for the Benton country (Tenn.) police, who alleged he had killed two persons in that state. Police said they were uninformed as to the details of the crime, except that Turner was charged with having slain his victims by decapitation with an axe. He was held as a fugitive pending instructions from Tennessee.

LOOK OUT!

If This Deception is Attempted Against You

THIS warning is printed to put the public on guard against a deception which may be practised against those who seek genuine Bayer Aspirin for pain, headaches or colds.

We take this means of warning you, so you may be able to protect yourself and your family against the results of such deception.

BEWARE!

Other preparations, we are informed, have been offered at times to those who ask for Bayer Aspirin; and even represented in some cases as being "the same as Bayer Aspirin."

Watch Out! Remember that years ago doctors warned the public against "headache remedies," some of which are heart depressants and unsafe for many people to take.

Then remember how Genuine Bayer Aspirin came. And was acclaimed the world over by leading men of science as SAFE relief for pain, and was prescribed without hesitation by eminent physicians. For genuine Bayer Aspirin does not harm the heart.

What folly, then, in the light of these things, to dose yourself with drugs of which you know nothing. Don't gamble—KNOW.

The genuine Bayer Aspirin tablets are made by a special process, under careful supervision of scientists, in the Bayer Laboratories, with over 25 years of highly specialized experience.

So when you want SAFE relief for pain, cold or headache, ask for BAYER ASPIRIN. You have a perfect right to ask for what you want. And an equal right to get what you ask for.

Look for the name BAYER on the package. And the word Genuine in red. Insist on Genuine Bayer Aspirin and refuse substitutes.

DOES NOT HARM THE HEART

2 MILLION SAID DOOMED IN CHINESE FLOOD AREA

U. S. Missionaries Report 100,000 Already Dead and Others Beyond Rescue.

SHANGHAI, Sept. 2.—(P)—American missionaries estimated today at least 100,000 persons had perished in the flood waters of northern Kiangsu province and that probably 2,000,000 others were doomed to die there of starvation and exposure.

Arriving here from the devastated area, they said the flood, caused by the breaking of dykes along the Grand canal, reached its crest last week, just as the country was receiving first reports of the enormous loss of life and property in the overflow of the Yangtze river 500 miles inland.

That the Kiangsu disaster would equal the catastrophe along the Yangtze at Hankow, Wuchang and Han-yang was indicated by the missionaries. Their report was the first to mention actual figures in reference to the death toll in Kiangsu. The loss of life in the three Yangtze river cities has been estimated at 250,000.

The Rev. Thomas L. Harnberger, formerly of Staunton, Va., now associated with the Southern Presbyterian mission, said the estimate of 100,000 drowned in northern Kiangsu was conservative and that "likely two million more must perish less mercifully of starvation and exposure during the awful months ahead."

Mr. Harnberger, a missionary for 19 years, came to Shanghai from his station at Taichow by houseboat, traversing miles of flooded country.

MANY REFUGEES DROWN DURING SEVERE STORM

HANKOW, China, Sept. 2.—(P)—Many flood refugees were drowned in Hankow, Wuchang and Han-yang today during a severe windstorm, adding to the previous death toll of 250,000 in the tri-cities due to floods, starvation and exposure. The death toll has lengthened daily despite the slow fall of the Yangtze river.

President Chiang Kai-shek estimated that unprecedented floods in several provinces of the past four weeks had brought more than 50,000,000 Chinese to the verge of starvation.

Having completed his inspection of this area, the president departed by gunboat for Hankow after personally donating 250 tons of rice to the refugees.

FORMER OFFICER SLAIN BY TEXAS POSSEMAN

KILGORE, Texas, Sept. 2.—(P)—R. E. "Bob" Williams, former city marshal at Wink, Texas, was shot to death today by a posse of officers on the highway near London, in Rusk county.

A Texas ranger named Carver and two deputy sheriffs, Homer Gary and R. D. Holt, were in the posse, which was trailing Williams in the belief that he was involved in the robbery Monday of a bank at Pelican, La. Three men took $2,600 from the bank and fled west.

Officers said Williams and another man were traveling in a truck. When the officers halted them, they attempted to turn the truck around, but did not have time. Williams jumped out of the truck with a pistol in his hand and the officers opened fire, killing him in an interchange of shots.

The other man was captured and held in the Henderson jail as a suspect in connection with the Pelican robbery.

Coming of Messiah Is Imminent, Orthodox Jews in Holy Land Say

JERUSALEM, Sept. 2.—(UP)—The coming of a "kingly Messiah" to restore the Biblical kingdom of David is imminent, in the belief of thousands of Jews in the Holy Land.

Burdened by many obstacles in trying to create a national home for their race and still involved in their bitter quarrel with Moslems there, the Jews believe the day is at hand for the fulfillment of the Old Testament prophecy of Ezekiel.

Daily prayers are said among the 50,000 orthodox Jews for the coming of their leader. Recent threats of conflict with Arabs have served to intensify the belief of both worshippers and priests that the prayers will be answered, despite the many historical instances of "false Messiahs."

The words of the prophet Ezekiel have long been the basis of the belief: "Behold, I will take the children of Israel from among the nations, whither they are gone, and will gather them on every side, and will bring them into their own land; and I will make them one nation in the land upon the mountains of Israel; and one king shall be king to them all."

Since 1882 when 200 Israelites from Yemen, reputed to be members of the "lost tribe of Gad," made a journey on foot across the Arabian desert to the holy city, the Jews have awaited the coming of the Messiah, some 8,000 of their co-religionists have come to Palestine. After the World War the Zionist movement brought about 100,000 Jews from 50 countries.

Those who have opposed the Zionist movement have persistently forecast that it will end in a great Arab-Jewish conflict which will destroy the $100,000,000 invested in rehabilitation of the Holy Land as a Jewish national home.

Outside the sacred site of Solomon's temple at the walling wall, which is now on sacred Moslem grounds, Jewish devotees awaiting the Messiah have pleaded every day for reunion of their scattered tribes, rebuilding of their temple and re-establishment of the throne of David.

Nor have the Moslem religious leaders been idle in aiding the Arab plan for a United States of Arabia with Jerusalem as its capital. One instance of the effort to unite Arab sentiment for the project was the recent burial of Mohamet Ali, Indian Moslem leader, and former King Hussein in the precincts of the temple from which tradition says, Mohammed ascended to heaven.

Hazrat Amin El Hassein, the grand mufti of Jerusalem and representative of the Arabs, told the United Press that the Jews have attempted to buy the mosque of Omar, but Palestine government authorities have discounted such reports.

MEXICAN GOVERNMENT DENIES AID TO CHURCH

MEXICO CITY, Sept. 2.—(P)—The federal government's announced determination not to intervene in the Vera Cruz religious controversy, which recently has led to a series of bombings and riots, was received with dismay in Catholic circles today.

President Ortiz Rubio in his annual address at the opening session of congress yesterday made his first definite reply to requests for intervention with the statement that the Vera Cruz legislature acted within its rights in passing an anti-church measure, and he considered federal intervention a violation of state sovereignty which he was not willing to commit.

INCOME TAX REFUNDS GIVEN TWO CONCERNS

WASHINGTON, Sept. 2.—(P)—Refunds for over-assessment of income taxes announced today by the internal revenue bureau included $148,431 to the Famous Players Lasky, New York, and $277,606 to the Pittsburgh Plate Glass Company, Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania.

The refunds were made because of allowances for additional reduction for depreciation, increase in invested capital and other reasons.

Udet, Enemy of U. S. in War-Time, Thrills Thousands at Air Races

CLEVELAND, Sept. 2.—(AP)—A pilot who once was one of America's most feared war-time enemies, is making a different kind of a conquest at the 1931 national air races here.

He is Major Ernst Udet, of Germany, and he has not only captured the admiration of thousands of spectators with his unprecedented stunts, but has come close to stealing the show.

On the ground, Major Udet, short and stocky and neatly dressed, looks and acts like any conservative businessman. But in the air he makes the crowd gasp as he slips his scarlet ship, which he himself designed, through stunts that no one but a daredevil would attempt.

Udet and the rest of the more than 400 civilian and service pilots were held on the ground today by a steady rain that forced postponement of the program. On other days, however, Udet performs loops, rolls and banks so close to the ground that the least mistake in judgment or air bump would send him crashing in an instant. His most spectacular stunt is to take off and fly across the field with one wing almost touching the ground. He closes his exhibition by stopping his motor at a thousand feet, making three loops and landing with a dead stick—an idle propeller.

The German's tricks are made possible by his hair-line judgment of distances and his specially-built ship, constructed for ease of maneuverability rather than speed.

Other pilots of the foreign team, and many of the Americans, are accredited with as difficult and skillful antics, but Udet's low flying captures the fancy of the spectators.

During the war Udet was officially listed as shooting down 62 allied planes. One of the pilots he shot down behind the German lines was Common Pleas Judge Wamaker, now of Akron, Ohio. The German ace has the number tag of the Akron jurist's plane to present to him if he appears at the races this week. Judge Wamaker inscribed the tag at the time he was captured, when Udet landed and gave him first aid.

Udet also has met at the air races William Waldmuller, of Cleveland, who once saved his life. Waldmuller, stationed near Soissons, France, where Udet was forced down, warned the flyer of a poison gas area and ran with him to a cave.

Since the war Udet has turned his attention to peace-time exploits. He has made nine landings on Mt. Blanc at an altitude of 5,800 meters in the interests of photography, and is the only man to have landed a plane on Mt. Zugspitze, the highest in Germany.

He is making his first visit in America and is amazed at the scale of things. "It is not merely miraculous, but fabulous," he said. He finds that the United States has some large and fine airports, but those in Germany are better kept, especially in being free from dust.

When the races are over Udet will fly from Berlin to Africa, where he will resume making aviation pictures. There will be a double program of races tomorrow to make up for the postponement of today's events, among them a number of straightaway speed dashes.

If the Los Angeles-to-Cleveland Bendix derby gets under way tomorrow after four days of delay on account of bad weather, the arrival of these racers will be one of the highlights.

Flight Commander R. L. B. Atchley, of England, today took a plane out for the first time since last Friday, when he cracked up in landing.

LAST RITES TODAY FOR MRS. J. MOODY

Funeral services for Mrs. J. Moody, of Clarkston, who died Tuesday night at a local hospital, will be conducted at 11 o'clock this morning in Spring Hill chapel by the Rev. J. F. Young. Interment will be in West View cemetery, with H. M. Patterson & Son in charge.

Mrs. Moody was a daughter of the late William Wood and Mrs. Harriett Wood, of Atlanta. She was a member of the First Methodist church and for a number of years was a popular and beloved businesswoman in this city.

Surviving are three sisters, Miss Betty Wood, Miss Annie Wood and Mrs. K. H. Johnson, all of Clarkston, and a brother, A. W. Wood, of Oklahoma City, Okla.

Louisiana's Child Freed by Venezuela

WASHINGTON, Sept. 2.—(AP)—The Venezuelan government has ordered the child of James E. Welch, of Louisiana, returned to him.

Acting Secretary Castle, of the state department, today so notified H. Ralph Burton, attorney for Welch, that ended a long controversy between Welch and the government over custody of the child.

Welch still has a claim against the Venezuela government for alleged illegal imprisonment growing out of his attempts to obtain the child.

AUTOS KILL EIGHT HERE IN AUGUST

Eight persons in the Greater Atlanta area and 16 in the state at large outside Atlanta met death in automobile accidents during August, according to figures released Wednesday by the Atlanta Motor Club. Persons injured in Atlanta numbered 154, while fatalities included 2 children, 3, 7 and 13 years of age. A total of 1,007 accidents occurred in the state at large, from which 901 injuries resulted.

In its report the Motor Club called attention to the fact that Atlanta's schoolboy traffic patrolmen will be on duty at county schools and in the vicinity of most junior high schools next week. Motorists are urged to take extra precautions and to respect the decrees of these youngsters.

30,000 Elementary Pupils Register With School Board

More than 30,000 school children registered Wednesday with the Atlanta board of education for elementary grades ranging from kindergarten through the sixth grade. Others who registered Wednesday included junior and senior high students who have just moved to Atlanta, and students facing special examinations in all grades.

The low seventh grade, or first year of junior high, students and the low tenth grade, or first year senior high, pupils will register at 8:30 o'clock Friday morning. Other junior and senior high school students who attended those schools last year will report at 8:30 o'clock Tuesday morning, and classes open after the Labor Day holiday Monday.

M. E. Coleman, director of census and attendance, said that a total of 51,000 students are expected to report to classrooms on the first day of school Tuesday, an increase of 1,000 over the first day of the last school year.

Jerre A. Wells, county school superintendent, Wednesday morning attended the first meeting of the white school teachers in the county system to be held for the coming school year, and returned home with a handsome new radio, the gift of the teachers.

The meeting was held at Fulton High and the surprise gift was presented by W. F. Dykes, president of the teachers' association and principal of North Fulton High. The gift, Mr. Dykes said, was the teachers' expression of gratitude for the consideration Mr. Wells has shown them throughout the last school year.

Mr. Wells addressed the meeting and urged a program of strictest economy for the year. A meeting of all negro teachers has been called for 9:30 o'clock at the office of Mr. Wells at the courthouse this morning.

DE PRIEST PROTESTS CAVALRY DISBANDING

WASHINGTON, Sept. 2.—(AP)—Representative DePriest, republican, Illinois, the only negro member of congress, today presented President Hoover a mass of protests against the intention of the war department to break up the tenth cavalry from a negro regiment into small units.

DePriest said the negroes of the country felt that breaking up of the unit would deprive them of an army group which had always been composed of negroes.

Gifford Names Committee To Find Way of Making Jobs

WASHINGTON, Sept. 2.—(AP)—A committee of industrialists, labor leaders and economists, headed by Harry A. Wheeler, Chicago banker, was appointed today by Walter S. Gifford, national relief director, to find ways of creating jobs for the unemployed.

Wheeler's committee is the second of three to be created by Gifford to carry on the three major activities of President Hoover's unemployment relief organization.

Gifford announced yesterday the appointment of a group headed by Owen D. Young, of New York, to direct the raising of relief funds through local agencies. The third committee, yet to be announced, will advise in the administration of relief through the money raised by Young's committee.

The task of the committee appointed today, Gifford said, will be to "develop any possible extension of emergency industrial policies which have been found practicable in providing employment during the present period."

The group, to be known as the committee on employment plans and suggestions, is composed of 18 members in addition to Wheeler, including Daniel Willard, president of the Bell Telephone Company; William Green, of the American Federation of Labor; Edward N. Hurley, former chairman of the shipping board, and Wesley C. Mitchell, director of the national bureau of economic research.

Others appointed were: Fred C. Croston, Gifford's assistant; W. R. Ayres, Cleveland; C. H. Banfield, Oregon; S. P. Bush, Columbus; Homer Ferguson, Newport, News, Va.; Charles C. Gates, Denver; A. Johnston, Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers; H. C. Knight, New England council; Matthew Sloan, New York, and L. R. Smith, Milwaukee.

In announcing appointment of the committee, Gifford said employers "have to an extraordinary degree spread employment available in their own plants among their workers, thus

CHILD BADLY HURT WHEN HIT BY AUTO

Dorothy Belle Turner, 4-year-old stepdaughter of D. Bell, of a Bankhead highway address, was critically injured Wednesday afternoon on Bankhead highway, near Bolton road, when she was struck down, according to police reports, by a car driven by Sterling A. Wood, Route 2, Smyrna. Wood rushed the child to Grady hospital and promptly reported the accident to county police. No charges have been made, pending an investigation.

Wood told police he was driving towards Atlanta when the child darted in front of his car before he could stop.

Grady hospital physicians stated that the child had suffered a fractured left leg, a possible fractured skull and severe lacerations about the body. She was in a semi-conscious condition, they said, and seemed to be suffering from shock.

Convict Recaptured.

TALLAHASSEE, Fla., Sept. 2.—(AP)—Freedom from prison life was brief for W. H. Newton, Escambia county convict who escaped from the state prison at Raiford recently. He was recaptured within 24 hours near the prison and was returned to finish his year's sentence for forgery.

WEST INDIES WATCH PROGRESS OF STORM

Disturbance Moves West
Natives' Relief.

SAN JUAN, Porto Rico, Sept. 2.—(P)—Heavy rain squalls here this afternoon were said by the local United States weather bureau to be due to a storm which is believed to be passing westward about 100 miles north of Porto Rico.

Latest news to the weather bureau about the storm came from a ship at about that location which reported the wind blowing 40 miles an hour and the barometer at 29.82.

It was believed here that there was no danger locally.

The reports caused special apprehension in the West Indies because of the hurricane which swept over the Dominican republic just a year ago. It was on September 3, 1930, that inadequate for Gainesville.

Santo Domingo, the historic capital of the little island republic, was practically wiped out and more than 1,000 persons were killed.

ST. THOMAS, Virgin Islands, Sept. 2.—(P)—A heavy storm reported today over this region in the Atlantic passed far north of here. No signs of it were visible from this point except a heavy rain and a slightly rough sea.

SANTO DOMINGO, Dominican Republic, Sept. 2.—(P)—The observatory here today declared normal weather conditions prevailed throughout the Dominican republic up to noon. A dispatch from Porto Rico said a weather disturbance was encountered 100 miles north of San Juan this morning.

GAINESVILLE PLANS NEW WATER SYSTEM

GAINESVILLE, Ga., Sept. 2.—C. D. Blackwell, engineer of the J. E. Sirmine Company, of Greenville, S. C., submitted blue prints to the city commissioners Monday for a proposed new water system costing $100,000. The present water system has been judged it was on September 3, 1930, that inadequate for Gainesville.

New Majestic Models Introduced At Meeting of Dealers Wednesday

Majestic executives who took active parts in the dealer meeting held Wednesday at the Biltmore hotel for a pre-showing of the new Grigsby-Grunow line of receivers. Left to right are M. W. Thompson, assistant director of advertising for Grigsby-Grunow, manufacturers; Frank S. McGaughey, president of the Capital Electric Company, distributors; Joe C. Montgomery, sales promotion manager of the Capital Electric Company, and H. M. Pauley, service manager for the manufacturer.

Majestic dealers from over this territory were in Atlanta Wednesday as the guests of Capital Electric Company, distributors, for a pre-showing of the new "spirit of progress" models in the Pompeian room at the Atlanta Biltmore hotel.

The display of the new models was arranged by several visiting executives of the Grigsby-Grunow Company, of Chicago, manufacturer of Majestic radio receivers and refrigerators who explained the salient features of the new line.

The program was opened with a business meeting starting at 10 a. m., the dealers being welcomed by Robert Strickland Jr., vice president of the First National bank. The meeting was presided over by Frank S. McGaughey, president of the Capital Electric Company, who introduced the various speakers. Joe C. Montgomery, sales promotion manager of the company, introduced the new models.

Following a luncheon, which was held in the main dining room of the hotel, addresses were made by the visiting executives of the Grigsby-Grunow Company, outlining the merchandise and proposed advertising for the coming season.

The social feature of the meeting was a banquet and night club entertainment at the hotel featuring an elaborate program with music by the Rhythm Kings orchestra.

Mr. Thompson came to Atlanta a day prior to the meeting to be the principal speaker at the monthly session of the Atlanta Radio Dealers' Association, which was held Tuesday night at the Wincoff hotel.

Developed by Dr. Holmes and his associates will permit commercial production at a cost of "only a few dollars a gram."

The investigation of a practical method of isolation was begun a few months ago. Science generally had accepted the theory that vitamin A was not itself present in vegetables, such as spinach, but developed from the carotene present in them.

The vitamin is, in some manner not yet understood, evolved in the digestive processes in animal life. It is found in cod liver oil, egg yolk and butter, for example, where it has been stored after having been received in carotene form from vegetable matter.

U. S. FARM REVIEW
LARGELY GLOOMY

WASHINGTON, Sept. 2.—(P)—Price pessimism was strongly reflected today in the agriculture department's monthly review of the farm situation.

The review said that with regard to the principal cash crops, wheat, cotton, tobacco and potatoes, the chief concern seemed to be over the probable size of the surplus for sale.

None of these crops is of record proportion, the department said, with potatoes a little below the average yield, "but the present state of the market gives farmers very little assurance."

The report said prices of cattle and hogs, although low, were still high enough to allow some margin for feeding.

The effect of the July heat wave here was said to be evident in a reduced output of oats, barley and hay, although there was said to be ample feed in the country as a whole despite some scarcity in portions of the west and northwest.

Some idea of the former prohibitive cost of carotene was contained in the statement by Dr. Holmes. A short time ago an American chemist sought to purchase some and learned that it was available only in England at $15 a gram. The method of isolation developed by Dr. Holmes and his associates will permit commercial production at a cost of "only a few dollars a gram."

VETS SEEK PAYMENT OF REMAINING BONUS

Delegates Vote To Keep Present Rate of Interest on Advances.

KANSAS CITY, Sept. 2.—(P)—Turning down compromise proposals, the Veterans of Foreign Wars today voted that resolutions be drafted calling for immediate payment of the remainder of federal adjusted compensation and the refunding of interest on part payments already advanced.

The delegates voted down a proposal submitted by the resolutions committee that the interest rates on advances be reduced from the present 4 1-2 per cent to "simple interest" or about 3 per cent.

On the opening day of business sessions of the encampment, Brigadier General Frank T. Hines, administrator of veterans' affairs, and Ernest Lee Jahmcke, assistant secretary of the navy, urged that former service men cease demands for additional federal appropriations.

The federal government has distributed nearly one billion dollars in advance payments on compensation. To pay the remainder would mean an additional approximately one and a half billion dollars.

NORTH CAROLINA
ABOLISHES LASH

RALEIGH, N. C., Sept. 2.—(P)—The use of the lash as a mode of punishment for prisoners in North Carolina convict camps was temporarily abolished Tuesday with the recommendation that this action be made permanent by the highway commission.

This was decided upon at a conference among Governor O. Max Gardner, E. B. Jeffress, chairman of the highway commission, and Mrs. W. T. Bost, state superintendent of public welfare.

The conference was the result of complaints lodged by Mrs. Bost that the highway commission's regulations for the discipline of prisoners permit-ed use of the lash on unruly convicts worked by the state highway commission.

The 1931 road act pledged all county convicts serving sentences of more than 60 days under the highway department, the state taking over the county camps.

How Young People Can Aid The Unemployment Situation

Young people have no doubt noticed in the newspapers and heard over the radio, statements from educators urging them to remain in school another year instead of seeking employment now, which would add to the unemployment situation. All young people should finish high school and the logical thing for the high school and college graduate to do, it seems, is to enter a standard school that specializes in some particular field and get the practical side of education and qualify for a remunerative position.

It is thoroughly agreed that the educators are right relative to adding to the unemployment situation, and all young people should at once put into operation a plan which will enable them to secure and hold a position in some particular field and get the practical side of education and qualify for a remunerative position.

There never was a time in this generation when it was so important for young people to qualify themselves for making a living. Now, of all times, they should sweep aside every obstacle and act with vigor and decision.

The additional year should be spent in taking specialized business training in the best school to be found, and when business conditions swing back to normal, they will be able to pick and choose their positions. This will aid directly the unemployment situation and enhance their own success a hundred fold.

The Draughon School of Commerce is an outstanding school. Thousands of young people have passed this way and are well on the road to success, and very few of them are out of employment. The Draughon Placement Department has been filling positions even during this business depression. It is doubtful if another school or college can be found anywhere that has a better record to its credit. High school graduation is the minimum entrance requirement, and it is recognized as a Junior College of Commerce. More college graduates are now enrolled in this school than ever before.

It will pay to investigate the Draughon program, and if so, it is likely that the additional year will be spent in this school. An outline of the program may be obtained by addressing The Draughon School of Commerce, Atlanta, Georgia.—(adv.)

Vitamin A Basis Reported Isolated At Reasonable Cost

BUFFALO, N. Y., Sept. 2.—Discovery of a commercial process of isolating the chemical element known to science as carotene, which is the vegetable basis of vitamin A, was announced to the American Chemical Society here today by Dr. Harry N. Holmes, of Oberlin College, Associated with Dr. Holmes in his investigations was Dr. Henry M. Leicester, also of Oberlin College.

Some idea of the former prohibitive cost of carotene was contained in the statement by Dr. Holmes. A short time ago an American chemist sought to purchase some and learned that it was available only in England at $15 a gram. The method of isolation developed by Dr. Holmes and his associates will permit commercial production at a cost of "only a few dollars a gram."

The investigation of a practical method of isolation was begun a few months ago. Science generally had accepted the theory that vitamin A was not itself present in vegetables, such as spinach, but developed from the carotene present in them.

The vitamin is, in some manner not yet understood, evolved in the digestive processes in animal life. It is found in cod liver oil, egg yolk and butter, for example, where it has been stored after having been received in carotene form from vegetable matter.

U. S. FARM REVIEW
LARGELY GLOOMY

WASHINGTON, Sept. 2.—(P)—Price pessimism was strongly reflected today in the agriculture department's monthly review of the farm situation.

The review said that with regard to the principal cash crops, wheat, cotton, tobacco and potatoes, the chief concern seemed to be over the probable size of the surplus for sale.

None of these crops is of record proportion, the department said, with potatoes a little below the average yield, "but the present state of the market gives farmers very little assurance."

The report said prices of cattle and hogs, although low, were still high enough to allow some margin for feeding.

The effect of the July heat wave here was said to be evident in a reduced output of oats, barley and hay, although there was said to be ample feed in the country as a whole despite some scarcity in portions of the west and northwest.

Doing the RIGHT THING in Traffic Is as Easy as the Wrong Thing

IN as commonplace an undertaking as the use of streets and highways there is a right and a wrong way to drive an automobile and to walk. Never has the cardinal principle of doing the right thing been so much in need of universal adoption in this country by drivers and pedestrians as now.

The right way of handling a car when approaching an intersection, the maintenance of a sensible speed under all conditions, and the use of the proper lane of traffic would prevent seven out of every ten* of all automobile accidents now caused by improper driving.

The right way for pedestrians to use the streets is also as easy as the wrong way—and it's much safer. Crossing against lights, in the middle of the block, walking with traffic instead of against it along country roadways, and darting out into streets from behind parked cars lead to the death and injuring of many pedestrians each year.

For drivers and pedestrians to resolve to use the streets and highways in the right way all the time is for America to resolve to put a stop to most automobile accidents.

SHOALS BIDDING TIME EXTENDED 2 MONTHS

Federal-State Group Adjourns Session After Setting New Limit.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 2.—(AP)—Prospective Muscle Shoals bidders today were granted an additional two months for preparing their proposals.

The joint Alabama-Tennessee-Federal Muscle Shoals commission adjourned its two-day session after setting November 1 as the new limit within which bids may be submitted.

The members agreed to meet at Muscle Shoals October 1 and make tentative arrangements to discuss farming problems related to the project with the nation's major farm organizations.

Dr. Perry E. Howard, of the department of agriculture's fixed nitrogen research laboratory explained various phases of fertilizer production to the commission at its final session.

Commissioners said after the meeting that the extension of the bidding limit did not indicate the several proposals opened yesterday were "unsatisfactory."

They said that in the additional time additional data on nitrate plants numbers 1 & 2 W could be furnished prospective bidders and expressed the hope this would result in better proposals.

Bilbo Threatens War On Louisiana Gambling

JACKSON, Miss., Sept. 2.—(UP)—A threat to send Mississippi National Guards into Louisiana to clean up the gambling halls of Orleans and Jefferson parishes, was made today by Governor Theo. G. Bilbo.

At the same time he said he would not call a special session of the legislature to consider Governor Huey P. Long's one-year cotton holiday plan but said he would consider calling a brief business session to discuss reduction legislation when a majority of the legislators sign the pledged not to investigate which was sent them last winter.

"If Huey Long keeps putting in Mississippi I'll call a special session of the Mississippi legislature to close up the gambling halls of Louisiana," he said. "I am in favor of cotton reduction but not prohibition."

CONFIDENCE IN BANKS SEEN AS NEED BY FESS

WASHINGTON, Sept. 2.—(AP)—An exchange of confidence between the bankers and the public was declared imperative today by Senator Fess, republican, Ohio, for a restoration of business stability.

The senator cited a recent experience of his own in seeking unsuccessfully to obtain money to build a home. He expressed his views to an Ohio constituent in commenting upon complaints of heavy increases in postal savings.

"It is a situation most difficult to decipher," wrote Senator Fess. "The country has all the assets it ever has possessed with the single exception of confidence. There has been no great calamity since World War involving destruction of property or loss of resources. We have all the basic elements of a sound prosperity, including managerial ability. The one thing lacking is confidence in our financial institutions. How to insure this is our problem. . . . For the life of me I do not see how you can cure this lack of confidence but like the mumps it must work itself out."

"Last week I asked a banker to loan me $50,000 to be applied on the building of a new house. The banker threw up his hands and said: 'Oh, senator, we cannot make any loans at present. While we are sound we must remain in a liquid condition.'"

"I informed him that it would be necessary for me to take out my deposits in the loan associations. Applications to the three associations in which I have deposits sufficient to build the house met the same response. This meant that I could not use my own money, not because they didn't have it. That is one case of several in a small town. That case is typical throughout the United States. That spells the depression under which we are suffering."

The person who wrote Senator Fess had called attention that in his Ohio town since the middle of March a total of $357,028 had been deposited in postal savings there.

French Newspapers Scent Hitler "Plot" To Divide France

PARIS, Sept. 2.—(AP)—The newspapers Figaro and Ami Du Peuple today reproduced on their front pages a new map of France attributed to Adolf Hitler, the German nationalist, who has opposed the present German government's policy of Franco-German rapprochement.

It shows what would be left of France by 1935 if Hitler should come into power in Germany and put into execution the plan which his supporters say he advocates.

All the French maritime frontiers would be divided between Germany, England, Catalonia and Italy. Germany would take the territory from Dunkirk to Havre on the north and would keep Marseilles and the department of Bouches-du-Rhone on the south.

The United States would get Finisterre as a naval station "to assure her neutrality."

RATE ARGUMENT SET FOR SEPTEMBER 21

WASHINGTON, Sept. 2.—(AP)—The interstate commerce commission announced today that on September 21 the 15 per cent freight rate increase case would begin September 21.

Announcement also was made that briefs must be filed not later than September 18.

The railroads on June 17 asked the commission to permit them to make a 15 per cent increase in all freight rates. Hearings were started in July and during the last month have been going on continuously. Two hearings are now being held in Chicago, and it is expected that they will be concluded some time next week.

RUDY'S BRIDE EN ROUTE TO HOME IN CALIFORNIA

NEW YORK, Sept. 2.—(AP)—Mrs. Rudy Vallee was on her way to Santa Monica, Cal., today to visit her parents, Police Chief and Mrs. C. E. Webb, for six weeks.

The bride kissed her singer husband yesterday at the Grand Central terminal, while hundreds of persons stood by and watched camera flashes.

Rudy said his wife was unaccompanied to the coast, nor would detectives watch the train, despite the warning received by Police Commissioner Mulrooney that two men had been overheard in an Albany-New York train plotting to kidnap either Rudy or his bride.

OLD TRINITY CHURCH TO HAVE NEW NEIGHBOR

NEW YORK, Sept. 2.—(AP)—Old Trinity church, for generations a landmark at the Broadway end of Wall street, is to have a new and modern neighbor.

Plans were disclosed today for a 10-story church and office building at 44 John street, on the northern rim of the downtown financial district.

The building, to cost between $2,000,000 and $3,000,000, will replace the John Street church, oldest Methodist congregation in the United States.

The structure, its sponsors said, will be the tallest church in the world.

Inventor's Anger Cools As Bullets Pierce Vest

NEW YORK, Sept. 2.—(UP)—Froman Gurd, inventor, went to police headquarters today with his latest contrivance—a bullet-proof vest—and asked that it be given a tryout with himself inside.

Commissioner Edward P. Mulrooney agreed to the tryout but would not let the inventor wear the vest. Gurd grew quite angry but stood by as officers draped his invention on a board and fired six bullets at it.

Each of the six bullets penetrated the steel and lodged deeply in the board. Everybody seemed happy.

CHANCEY NOMINATED IN TAMPA MAYOR VOTE

Former County Solicitor Victorious in Primary Test.

TAMPA, Fla., Sept. 2.—(AP)—R. E. L. Chancey, twice county solicitor of Hillsborough county, was nominated mayor of Tampa in the city election yesterday, when he defeated T. N. Henderson, president of the city board of representatives, by a majority of 1,568 votes. The official tabulation today showed that Chancey polled 7,901 ballots against 6,332 for Henderson in what was considered one of the most heated political campaigns in the history of the city.

Nearly 100 men were arrested during the day. Forty-six of these were held by the city police on charges of vote fraud or attempted repeating, and about 50 were sent to the county jail by Sheriff R. T. Joughin. Most of the 40 men were arrested.

The alleged "repeaters" arrested by city police will be given hearings Saturday. The officers reported that hundreds of bogus poll tax receipts were seized in a raid on a cafe near a polling station in which seven of the 40 men were arrested.

HIGH COURT UPHOLDS ALABAMA'S GAS TAX

MONTGOMERY, Ala., Sept. 2.—(AP)—Chief Justice John C. Anderson, of the Alabama supreme court, today denied the petition of W. H. Haigler for a permanent injunction against filing the journals of the state legislature on the claim the Goode gasoline tax act was illegal.

A temporary injunction was issued several days ago restraining the clerk of the house and the secretary of the senate from filing their journals with the secretary of state on the complaint of attorneys for Haigler that the Goode act, imposing a 1-cent a gallon tax on gasoline, passed after midnight of the fifth legislative day, was illegal.

The latter were special police, or watchers at the polls. They were charged with carrying concealed weapons.

The alleged "repeaters" arrested by city police will be given hearings Saturday. The officers reported that hundreds of bogus poll tax receipts were seized in a raid on a cafe near a polling station in which seven of the 40 men were arrested.

MILL VILLAGE DEATHS LAID TO WAGE CUTS

WASHINGTON, Sept. 2.—(AP)—Desperate conditions attributed to wage cuts among southern textile workers were pictured today in the current issue of the American Federationist on the basis of a first-hand investigation of three unnamed mill villages.

The magazine published by the American Federation of Labor, said in one town there had been 52 deaths this year compared with 37 during the same period last year, before the wage cuts and employment of "stretch-out" methods.

Farm Board Disapproves Cotton Ramparts Plan

WASHINGTON, Sept. 2.—(AP)—In addition to refusing to buy more cotton now, the farm board has disapproved another plan designed to raise the price of the staple.

Made apparently in all seriousness, it suggested the army buy up several million bales to use as ramparts for fortifications.

"Shades of Andrew Jackson!" said a board member when he heard of the proposal.

HEINZ SALESMEN HOLD CONFERENCE

Salesmen of the H. J. Heinz Corporation covering the states of Georgia and South Carolina will meet at the Wincoff hotel this morning for their annual sales conference, which will continue throughout the week.

The meeting will be under the supervision of L. R. Evans, Atlanta branch manager, assisted by C. A. Thompson, also of the Atlanta branch. E. W. Higginson, who is in charge of the Heinz general sales department at Pittsburgh, will be one of the principal speakers.

One of the features of the meeting will be a display of the entire line of 57 products marketed by the company. Mr. Evans reports that the company is looking forward to a substantial increase in business for the coming months.

JURY IS COMPLETED FOR BANKERS' TRIAL

ASHEVILLE, N. C., Sept. 2.—(AP) A jury to try Wallace B. Davis, former banker, and W. D. Harris, an associate, on charges of using the mails to defraud, was completed today in United States district court here.

Before it was empaneled, the defense offered a motion to quash the bill of indictment and entered a plea in abatement. Judge E. Yates Webb overruled the motions and called upon the defendants to plead.

They pleaded not guilty. The jury was empaneled and court was recessed until tomorrow, when taking of evidence will begin.

INSTALLMENT IV.

It was the significance of the fact that her mother was not struggling to escape that made Fabia stiffen her first impulse to rush enraged into the library and protect her mother from such liberty and insult. Instead, she lay absolutely still, keenly and terrifyingly aware that she must not let her mother know what she had seen, and that she must not see any more. She closed her eyes as if she still slept, and waited, and clutched in the vision that had flashed upon her, as if it was a physical pain.

It was only for a dozen breaths she lay waiting thus, but it seemed an eternity. Finally she heard her mother's bright, lilting voice saying, quite naturally, as if nothing extraordinary had happened, "You must come into the dining room now, and look at the flowers there."

Fabia did not move until she heard her mother and Mr. Firth cross the hall. Then very stealthily she rose. Holding "Thad" in her arms, she stole to the glass doors of the conservatory, turned the key softly, and let herself out into the brown dusk. Wifely she ran across the lawn to the kitchen. She could see through the open window that it was filled with caterers, but among them she caught the familiar face of the parlor maid, and called to her.

"Jennie, Jennie, run up to my room, will you, and get me my T-shirt and a hat? I'll run around under the window, and you can drop them to me."

"Why, but, Miss Fabia, you aren't going out now?"

"Yes, I shall be gone long. Mother knows. Hurry, please."

At 6 o'clock when Fabia had not returned, Lisa made a few quiet inquiries of the maids and learned from Jennie of the late and hurried start at dusk. At 6:30 when Fabia had not returned, she asked Barry Firth to do a little reconnoitering in the car. Fabia had probably lost track of the time. At 7, when Fabia still had not returned, Lisa was obliged to take Grandmother Vale into her confidence and confess she was perplexed. At 7:30, after Barry had returned twice to the house to report a fruitless search, Lisa's perplexity became anxiety, and she went to the door of Rupert's room and knocked.

Rupert Vale liked to rest for an hour before dinner, whenever possible. She found him stretched out on his long, narrow carved oak bed. The bed had been made from an old altar screen picked up over in France somewhere. Rupert Vale was an exceptionally tall man when standing and very well built, weighing over 200 pounds, but he hadn't an ounce of superfluous flesh. He had been known in his college days as "Handsome Rupert." He could still well be called the same. His close-cut hair was steel gray now, but still thick-napped. He wore a small mustache, also thick-napped and close-cut. It terminated in pointed ends, as naturally upstanding and alert as the pointed ears of a young fox. Stretched on his altar screen bed, wrapped in a purplish silk dressing gown, with a silk tasseled cord around his waist he suggested a handsome and prosperous monk or priest. He was reading by a light, made from an old incense burner, perfectly adapted to throw its rays at just the right angle on his book. He could tell by Lisa's manner of calm self-control, as she quietly stated the facts of the situation, that she was quite alarmed.

A consultation was held a few minutes later in the upper hall, with Grandmother Vale present. Aunt Charlotte, Rupert Lisa and June, who appeared from her bedroom, wrapped in a lacy pink negligee. There was little indication of excitement. It was an excellent exhibition of control of the emotions. Fear for Fabia's safety was striking at the roots of Rupert's heart, fear of the possibility of unpleasant notoriety at the roots of Lisa's, but neither made any exhibition of feeling. Nor did Grandmother Vale, whose blood pressure was forced up into the two hundreds by an emotion closely allied to anger, because a grandchild of hers, through some carelessness or lack of foresight, was menacing the well-orderedness of a Vale function.

It was decided that McKay, the chauffeur, must be informed of Fabia's disappearance and a search be made of the place immediately. The rest of the servants must be kept from surmising that there was any reason for alarm for as long as possible. Lisa had already assured Jennie that she had approved of Miss Fabia's walk. There still remained nearly an hour before the guests would be arriving, said Rupert.

"In the meantime," said Grandmother Vale, "everybody had better go and dress for the evening, and act as if nothing had happened until something does—which is a good rule to remember whenever you find yourself wasting energy in worry."

Grandmother Vale's spirit had lost none of its force with age. Neither, apparently, had he backbone. She sat just as straight as the young, handsome, belligerent-looking woman in the portrait above her. She wore now a voluminous sable cape never remodeled since her husband gave it to her fifty years ago. Beneath it she was elegant in black velvet and rose-point lace. For she had come dressed for the evening.

"Acting as if nothing had happened is splendid, mother," Lisa said gently. "If everything is being done to locate Fabia that should be done, I'm really rather disturbed." She put in mildly, as she had learned through years of practice to do all kinds of unfortunate fates that might have befallen Fabia coiled and twisted in her brain. "This isn't like Fabia at all," she went on. "I'm sure she would telephone if she could. I told Barry not to make any inquiries of the police, but now—"

"The police," ejaculated Rupert, and the pointed ends of his mustache twitched, which always indicated extreme irritation. "I should hope not! Nothing could be worse for Fabia than to make public the extremely annoying situation on the night of her debut."

"And nothing would please the Boston papers more than an opportunity of headlining something of a sensational nature about one of its conservative families."

"I know," Lisa realized that gently Lisa assured her husband and mother-in-law, "or I would be out scouring the country for Fabia this instant. Her voice almost trembled. "I know I must stay here and receive the guests and explain, if necessary, that she's not well—if she shouldn't return before they begin to arrive. I must do it for her sake."

"For all our sakes," interrupted Grandmother Vale.

"Yes, mother," smiled Lisa. She never disagreed unless something was to be gained by it.

Grandmother Vale's favorite daughter-in-law now, in spite of the fact that she was neither Boston-born nor bred, and could boast of nothing distinguished among her ancestors or present connections. When Rupert, at the age of thirty-nine, showed indications of interest in Lisa, she had expressed high disapproval. "Who is this Elizabeth Fabian, from Rhode Island?" she had inquired with scorn, as if the little state was as undesirable as come from as it was limited in square miles.

The girl from Rhode Island proved to be the daughter of a professor in English in a university, which, though not Harvard, was at least an institution with traditions. Moreover, the girl possessed rare beauty and charm. Grandmother Vale's Boston-born daughters-in-law, Rose and Justine, were neither of them beautiful, and neither of them endowed with anything more charming than a manner of distinction, and skill in showing indifference to everybody whom they didn't care to cultivate.

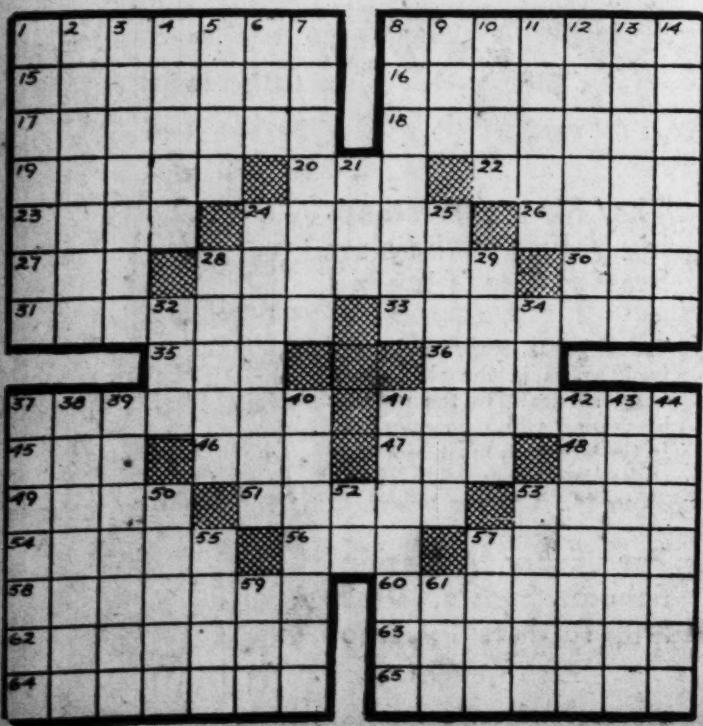

"Haven't we better telephone for Lloyd and ask him to help us?" Lisa suggested. "Rupert must be here to receive the guests with me, I suppose, and I think there should be more than Barry and McKay looking for Fabia. Lloyd—"

Shipstead Outlines Argument Against Revision of Debts

Bankers' Position Weakens Movement for Change, Western Republicans Feel.

BY MARK SULLIVAN.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 2.—(AP)—The key to the attitude of much of congress about reduction or cancellation of European debts due our government is to be found in the comment of Farmer-Labor Senator Henrik Shipstead, of Minnesota. Senator Shipstead observes, as to the most recent argument for reconsideration: "If the National City Bank of New York were not an interested party in European figures, it would make a better witness."

The Minnesota senator's implied opposition to reconsideration can be accepted as very probably characteristic of substantially all the western progressive republicans in congress and many southern and western democrats. This attitude is the political reality which must be faced by the bankers and all others who want wholesale and permanent action about the debts and are peevish because it is not done right away, quick. The congressional groups named above will not implacably oppose ratification of President Hoover's year of moratorium. They would very probably, however, oppose ratification and successfully at this time any wholesale permanent reduction or cancellation.

Attitude Strengthened.

Their attitude is strengthened by the fact that the two most recent and most widely circulated plans for reconsideration of debts and reparations came from two New York banking sources, one from the National City Bank and the other from the international committee headed by another New York banker, Albert H. Wiggin, of the Chase National. The fact that these are the sources of plans for reconsideration plays into the hands of the political opposition to such action. It at once tends to increase the prejudice of leaders of the opposition among their political followings in portions of the country distant from New York city.

This argument that will be made in congress and on the stump takes the form of a picture that can be roughly outlined. This argument may outrage the bankers as well as economists, statesmen and other thoughtful persons who earnestly believe in the merit of reconsideration. Nevertheless the picture will be effective politically. It will be said, as Senator Shipstead has already said, that the New York bankers are an interested party.

It will be said that at a time when the German reparations were known to be a first lien on Germany's industry and taxes, the New York bankers advanced great quantities of the money of their depositors and clients to Germany states, cities and corporations. These advances were necessarily a second lien, subordinate to reparations and subordinate to inter-governmental debts arising out of reparations.

Reductions Asked.

In this state of facts, so the argument runs, the New York bankers now propose that the amount of the first lien be reduced. The necessary result and one presumed object of this sacrifice by our government and other governments holding the prior lien will be to make the second lien collectible in full. As it will be put by the

MRS. WESLEY L. WOOD DIES OF POISON DOSE

Husband of Suicide Unable To Offer Reason for Act.

Mrs. Wesley L. Wood, of 822 Kirkwood avenue, S. E., who was found in a dying condition in an automobile on South Boulevard late Tuesday night, died early Wednesday morning as the result of a poison self-administered, it was announced at Grady hospital. No inquest was deemed necessary by the coroner, and the body was removed to the undertaking parlors of Sam R. Greenberg & Co.

Mr. Wood could offer no reason for his wife's act, he said. A note discovered clamped in the woman's hands when she was taken to the hospital by a resident of the neighborhood where she was found contained two words: "Notify Larry." It was explained by Mr. Wood that the note had reference to a grown son, who lives at San Antonio, Texas.

Funeral services will be held in abeyance pending the location of the son. In addition to the husband and son, Mrs. Wood is survived by a sister, Mrs. E. A. Brady; a brother, J. H. Quinlan Jr., and an aunt, Mrs. A. E. Hale.

Mrs. W. L. Wood, of 211 Thirteenth street, N. E., well-known musician and teacher, whose address was confused Wednesday with that of Mrs. Rose Wood, wife of Wesley L. Wood, 822 Kirkwood avenue, S. E., poisoning suicide victim, has been kept busy

Essays on Yorktown Sponsored by S.A.R.

In conjunction with the forthcoming sesqui-centennial celebration of the surrender of Cornwallis at Yorktown, the Georgia chapter of the Sons of the American Revolution Wednesday announced that it is sponsoring an essay contest among high school students of Georgia, with total cash prizes of $25 to be awarded the winners.

Announcement of the contest was made by Rev. V. L. Bray, of 180 Osmond street, S. E., who said that $15 will be awarded for first prize and $10 for second. The topic of the essay must be confined to the patriotic lessons learned from Yorktown, in connection with Cornwallis' surrender.

Papers of not less than 300 and not more than 500 words should be mailed to Mr. Bray at his Atlanta address. No paper mailed after October 5 will be eligible.

ARMY FLYER INJURED IN CRASH IN VIRGINIA

LANGLEY FIELD, Va., Sept. 2.—(AP)—Lieutenant R. P. Harris Jr., of Mather Field, California, was injured today in the crash of his plane in the self-manuever near Plum Tree island. He was participating in machine gun and bombing matches here.

Lieutenant Harris was extricated immediately from the wrecked machine and rushed by speed boat to Langley Field. Medical authorities met the boat and conveyed the injured aviator to the post hospital for examination.

Mrs. Wood, of 213th street, is the organizer of the Woodward Avenue Baptist church and is prominent in music teaching circles. She is in no way related to the suicide victim.

LELAND WITHDRAWS SUIT AGAINST FORDS

Former Lincoln President Drops $6,000,000 Action on Agreement.

DETROIT, Sept. 2.—(AP)—Henry M. Leland, veteran of the automobile industry and former president of the Lincoln Motor Car Company, announced today that he will make no further effort to prosecute his $6,000,000 suit against Henry and Edsel Ford.

The announcement, made in a letter to 2,400 former stockholders in the Lincoln company, said there is "no further recourse at law" in Leland's efforts to enforce a verbal agreement he says Henry Ford made to reimburse the stockholders of the Lincoln company when it was taken over by the Fords in 1924. At the time Ford acquired the Lincoln property considerable publicity was given to the statement that, although not legally obligated, the motor magnate intended to reimburse the stockholders.

WYATT APPOINTED JUDGE OF COWETA

Lee B. Wyatt, well-known LaGrange lawyer, was named Wednesday by Governor Russell to succeed the late Judge C. E. Roop, of Carrollton, a judge of the Coweta circuit. He was given the oath in the executive offices shortly after the announcement of his appointment.

Judge Wyatt is a former member of the house of representatives from Troup county and was accompanied to Atlanta by Representative Marvin Moaty and former Representative Chatty Martin. He will hold his first term of court in Coweta county next Monday.

DIVIDEND IS ORDERED PAID BY BANK OF U. S.

NEW YORK, Sept. 2.—(AP)—Supreme Court Justice John F. Carew signed an order today authorizing State Banking Superintendent Joseph A. Broderick to pay an initial 30 per cent dividend to Bank of the United States depositors. There was no opinion attached to the order.

"Where have you been all my life?"

When the right one comes along . . .

You wonder why you wasted time on the others!

This been-waiting-all-my-life feeling has hit millions of smokers, men and women both . . . when they broke open their first Chesterfield package and caught its more pleasing aroma . . . when they lighted their first Chesterfield and knew, that minute, that it was milder—not sharp or biting.

And after a few puffs, they knew that the taste was better. Here were the cigarettes they had always hoped for, and looked for.

Here were cigarettes that satisfy! Satisfy—that's the word that "fits."

The right tobaccos—the CHESTERFIELD kind of tobaccos, Domestic and Turkish—cured and aged, blended and cross-blended in the right way. Everything that goes into Chesterfield is the best that money can buy and that science knows about. The paper is just right. Everything about them is just right. Notice the difference.

They Satisfy . . . and—they're milder. Smoke as many as you like!

DRUGS GRABBED BY CUSTOMS CHIEF

Savannah Collector Criticized for Search of Baggage in Passengers' Absence.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 2.—(P)—Unauthorized search of the Grace Line Santa Inez by customs agents at Savannah, resulting today in the seizure of customs at that port being severely reprimanded by Commissioner of Customs Eble.

The criticism was directed to M. O. Dunning, the collector, because he was held to be in charge of the Savannah office, Eble said. Dunning should have been instructed by the collector of customs at that port being severely reprimanded by Commissioner of Customs Eble.

It also was pointed out to him that no customs agents had a right to enter a passenger state room unless he was invited to do so or had well founded suspicions that the passenger was attempting to smuggle narcotics.

The ship had stopped at Savannah en route to New York from San Francisco.

NEW SCHOOL BUILDING READY AT LAGRANGE

LAGRANGE, Ga., Sept. 2.—The new Hill Street school building, recently completed, has been turned over to the board of education of the city of LAGRANGE, and will open along with the other schools on September 7.

The building, which houses the seventh grades of the city school system, is one of the most modern of its kind in the state and was erected at the unusually low cost of $30,000.

The building is situated on one of the most beautiful residential lots in LAGRANGE and is surrounded by wide lawns and numerous old and valuable trees. Members of the board of education, who superintended the work, say that due to the low cost of materials and the close and strict supervision of the school authorities, the building was erected at minimum cost.

The school is wired for radio in each room and contains a model heating and ventilating system. Unusually large classrooms, a model kitchen and lunch room, excellent restrooms and a basement entirely above ground are features of the building.

SLOW POISON CLAIMS SECOND MACON VICTIM

MACON, Ga., Sept. 2.—(P)—Cecil H. Jones died of a slow poison today from what physicians described as effects of poison, which he had admitted taking.

Jones' death followed a similar one by William Outler, who also admitted he had taken poison. Outler died five days after being admitted to the hospital. Jones likewise died within five days after beginning hospital treatment.

The condition of Ralph Schelling, said by his parents to be receiving treatment at the hospital, was described tonight by friends and relatives as critical. Hospital authorities refused to disclose any information whatever relative to Schelling, who, according to his parents, has been in the institution four days.

WOMAN IS SERIOUSLY INJURED IN ACCIDENT

EASTMAN, Ga., Sept. 1.—(P)—Mrs. S. M. Miller, of Eastman, was seriously injured late this afternoon when her automobile in which she was driving alone overturned.

Mrs. Miller received a fractured skull, internal injuries and a laceration of the right leg. She is confined to a hospital here and physicians said she probably will recover unless complications develop.

Mrs. Miller, wife of a chain store operator, was driving a sedan toward Cochran. Persons at a filling station near the scene of the wreck said she was traveling in a high wind speed. It was reported she lost control of the car while passing a wagon. The car was badly damaged.

POWER SUB-STATION CAPACITY INCREASED

WEST POINT, Ga., Sept. 2.—The Shawmut substation of the Alabama Power Company, which supplies power to all the towns and industries in the West Point district, is being remodeled by a force under W. M. Wade. The 12 transformers now in use will be replaced by three larger transformers, increasing the capacity of the station about 20 per cent.

The present capacity is 10,000 kilowatts, which will be increased to about 12,000 kilowatts. Automatic oil switches are also being installed. The improvements will take about three months to complete.

GRAND JURY TO HEAR ASSAULT CASE TODAY

MACON, Ga., Sept. 2.—(P)—A special September term grand jury will convene here at 10 o'clock tomorrow morning, principally for an investigation of a charge of criminal assault against Ross Hatcher Jr. and Charles R. Haden, young Macon men. Their trial has been set for September 25.

Solicitor Charles H. Garrett said he would present a number of other cases for grand jury consideration.

The special session was called by Judge H. A. Mathews last Saturday. Today Judge Malcolm D. Jones took an order adjourning the regular July term.

CANADIAN LIQUOR PLAN FAILURE, SAYS PASTOR

MACON, Ga., Sept. 2.—(P)—Dr. W. R. McKay, pastor of the First Presbyterian church here, today described the Canadian liquor control law as a "chaotic, frightful, unworkable failure."

Neither is said to be serious hurt. He was speaking to the Macon Kiwanis Club here.

The minister, a former pastor in a Canadian city, said deaths from alcoholism had increased 160 to 23 per cent since the government there took control of the liquor traffic.

Unsigned Letter Hits Macon Crime Stories

MACON, Ga., Sept. 2.—Declaring the newspapers are making heroes of Ross Hatcher Jr. and Charles R. Haden, and that "the brutes don't deserve a trial," an unsigned letter, bearing an Atlanta postmark, came to Macon today in the mail of Judge H. A. Mathews, who will preside at the trial of the two men here September 25.

Inclosed, too, was a large photo of the two men which had been clipped from a newspaper. Across it was written, "Making heroes of these brutes. They ought not to have a trial, except in Judge Lynch's court."

Judge Mathews merely cast it aside.

Forgets Shooting

Walter Mims Bragg, 29, is held in jail at Savannah on a charge of shooting his wife to death in the crowded courtroom of the city of LAGRANGE, and will open along with the other schools on September 7.

The building, which houses the seventh grades of the city school system, is one of the most modern of its kind in the state and was erected at the unusually low cost of $30,000.

The building is situated on one of the most beautiful residential lots in LAGRANGE and is surrounded by wide lawns and numerous old and valuable trees. Members of the board of education, who superintended the work, say that due to the low cost of materials and the close and strict supervision of the school authorities, the building was erected at minimum cost.

The school is wired for radio in each room and contains a model heating and ventilating system. Unusually large classrooms, a model kitchen and lunch room, excellent restrooms and a basement entirely above ground are features of the building.

FLORIDA CIVIL CASES ENTER GEORGIA CASE

Protest Manner of Westberry and Padgett Removal From Bradenton Jail.

BRADENTON, Fla., Sept. 2.—(P)—An announcement that a circuit judge had been petitioned to call the attention of the Manatee county grand jury to the manner in which Austin Westberry and Homer Padgett were removed from jail here brought a reply from the solicitor at Valdesia, Fla., that their rights had not been violated.

Westberry and Padgett were charged with the slaying of Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Browning at their filling station near Valdesia in August, 1930. They were arrested here and returned to Georgia.

The Bradenton Rotary Club, the Manatee Lions Club and the Manatee Masonic and Odd Fellow lodges petitioned Circuit Judge W. T. Harrison to call the grand jury's attention to the matter after defense counsel here claimed the men were removed by Georgia officers and that their removal amounted to kidnapping.

Solicitor G. C. Spurlin at Valdesia said that so far as he knew the constitutional rights had not been violated. Spurlin said pressure had been brought to bear on him since the trial.

Westberry to "ask the grand jury for indictments for perjury against a large number of witnesses for Westberry who came here from Manatee, Fla., to testify."

The two men were arrested with Allen Westberry, R. Z. Chaney and Traversa Erwin in the Browning murders. Allen Westberry was convicted for the slaying of Mrs. Browning, Austin Westberry for the killing of her husband, and Homer Padgett for the slaying of Chaney and Erwin.

Among developments Wednesday came a brand new plan. Assistant Attorney-General Gross proposed to Governor Russell that the commissioner of agriculture station a representative in each of the Latin-American countries for the purpose of stimulating the use of cotton products.

"I think," he said, "it would be easier and far better to increase the consumption of cotton and other farm products than to limit the production."

George Says Farm Board Cannot Aid Cotton Growers

VIENNA, Ga., Sept. 2.—(P)—Walter F. George, junior United States senator from Georgia, said today that the statement by Carl Williams, cotton member of the federal farm board, that the board will not purchase any more cotton "is a definite rejection of the proposals urged by southern senators."

Senator George said that it was clear that cotton growers could not look to the board or any other federal agency for material help in the marketing of the present crop and that the problem is up to the farmers and the financial and credit agencies of the south and the cotton growing states.

The statement of the board, Senator George continued, "that it will not continue to buy cotton in the face of constantly increasing surpluses is gratuitous and wide of the mark."

"Every plan proposed by the southern senators was based upon the definite condition that the 1932 acreage be reduced by 50 per cent or more."

"It is apparent that the board has no available funds upon which to base a worthwhile holding or carrying operation and other reasons therefore become immaterial."

"The principle upon which the so-called Smith and George plans are based has been before the board for nearly 12 months and it seemed necessary for the coming year. Joe Frasier presided over the meeting and R. M. Martin, editor of the Liberty County Herald, acted as secretary."

At a mass meeting of farmers and businessmen of Macon county held in Oglethorpe today, a resolution was passed favoring the Long plan and a petition was sent to Governor Russell requesting that he call an extra session of the legislature to adopt the Long plan, which would be effective when passed by all the cotton states.

Miss Coggins Weds Mr. Igou, Of Eustis, Fla., at Home Ceremony

Dignity and beauty featured the wedding of Miss Pearl Ryan Coggins, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Coggins, and Douglas Rutledge Igou, of Eustis, Fla., which was solemnized last evening at 8 o'clock at the home of the bride's uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. B. Frank Coggins, on Wesley road. Rev. Dr. L. O. Bricker, of the Peachtree Christian church, performed the ceremony in the presence of a gathering of relatives and friends. The service proceeded by an appropriate musical program rendered by Miss Lucile Kimble, of Poulton, Ga., pianist; Mrs. Frank Kimble, of Carrollton, Ga., violinist.

The marriage rites were performed in the living room, which was elaborately decorated with palms, foliage plants and white gladioli. The sun porch which adjoins the living room was banked with palms interspersed with floor baskets of white gladioli and cathedral candelabras. Dr. Jack Jones and B. Frank Coggins acted as ushers. Mrs. Jack Jones who attended the bride as matron of honor, wore an exquisite gown of pastel blue chiffon velvet and carried a bouquet of pink roses and blue delphinium. The two little flower girls, Misses Anne Gamble, niece of the bridegroom, and Elizabeth Jones, niece of the bride, wore quaint old-fashioned dresses made of ivory tulle, the skirts formed entirely of ruffles that reached to an ankle length. They carried old-fashioned nosegays held in lace holders. Frank Coggins Jr. was the ringbearer and he wore a smart ivory satin suit fashioned with long trousers. Hugh Igou, of Eustis, Fla., brother of the bridegroom acted as best man and the lovely bride was accompanied to the altar by her father, Thomas Coggins, by whom she was given in marriage.

Bride's Gown.
The beautiful ivory faille silk gown worn by the bride was the same in which her mother was attired at her own wedding in 1890. The old-fashioned basque was particularly becoming to the slender figure of the bride as was the long graceful skirt from which a train of the faille fell from the waistline. Slight puffs of real lace trimmed the neckline and the short puffed sleeves. A tulle veil in ivory shade fell from a coronet of handsome lace, worn by the bride's grandmother, the late Mrs. Thomas C. Ryan, of Nashville, Tenn. Completing the beautiful costume were the old-fashioned lace mittens worn by the bride and the bouquet of gardenias and valley lilies which she carried.

Immediately after the ceremony Mr. and Mrs. Frank Coggins entertained at a reception at which they were assisted by the members of the bridal party and Mr. and Mrs. T. R. Coggins, the bride's parents. Mr. and Mrs. W. M. Igou, of Eustis, Fla., the bridegroom's parents, Mrs. William Carroll, Mrs. Jacob Patterson, Mrs. H. T. Jones, of Canton, Mr. and Mrs. Howard Gamble, of Eustis, Fla., and Mrs. Wilshire Riley.

Mrs. Coggins, the bride's mother, was gown in French blue lace fashioned over a matching shade of silk and her shoulder bouquet was formed of orchids and valley lilies. Mrs. Igou, the bridegroom's mother, was costumed in gray chiffon and she wore a

Ground Broken For Clubhouse In Winder, Ga.

WINDER, Ga., Sept. 2.—Ground was broken here Tuesday for the new clubhouse to be erected by Winder Woman's Club, and Mrs. H. A. Carithers, president, talked on the splendid work that has been achieved by clubwomen since the organization of the club in 1920. Miss Mildred Platter, building fund chairman, extended appreciation for the loyal support given the project, and Mrs. A. D. McCurdy, past president of Winder Woman's Club and president of the district of Georgia Federation of Women's Clubs, brought greetings and congratulations.

Dr. John H. Wood, pastor of the First Christian church of Winder, offered prayer. John B. Williams, of Winder, contractor for the building, then took charge of the meeting, and pledged his best efforts in the erection of the building, according to the plans drawn and donated to the club by T. L. Waterhouse, of the firm of Ten Eyck Brown, of Atlanta.

Miss Simms Elected O. B. X. Treasurer.

Miss Virginia Simms, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. L. Simms, was elected treasurer at the first meeting of the O. B. X. Club last Monday to succeed Miss Frances Pickett, the former treasurer, who is leaving the club.

Other officers of the club are: President, Miss Laura Troutman; vice president, Miss Kathryn Felton; and secretary, Miss Mary Dean.

For Miss Candler.

Miss Mary Candler, lovely bride-elect, will be the central figure at a luncheon today given by Miss Bright Ricketts at the DeWitt Hills Golf Club. Covers will be placed for 12 close friends of the honor guest. Additional entertainments are being planned in honor of Miss Candler, the dates to be announced later.

St. Simons Island. Miss Modena McPherson will leave September 11 to enroll at Wesleyan College in Macon.

Mr. and Mrs. Park H. Moore announce the birth of a daughter Thursday, August 27, at Georgia Baptist hospital, who has been named Elizabeth.

Miss Marguerite Blankenship, who has been entertained as the guest of Miss Frances Balliff, has returned to her home in Waretown, Tenn.

Mr. and Mrs. Roy Campbell, of Chattanooga, Tenn., are visiting Mr. and Mrs. S. F. Boykin, at their home on West Andrews drive, and will be attendants at the marriage of Miss Myra Boynton and James Randolph Brown, which will be a brilliant social event of Saturday evening, taking place in Trinity Methodist church.

Mrs. Campbell, who will act as matron of honor, was formerly Miss Mary Mills Hamm, of Charlotte, N. C.

Lula Vollmer's New Play Goes Into Rehearsal September 15

BY ANNIE LOU HARDY.

NEW YORK, N. Y., Sept. 2.—Atlanta's claim to fame lies through many channels, one of the most interesting of which is that aura of glory surrounding Miss Lula Vollmer, a former Atlanta, whom literary critics rank among the country's most eminent playwrights and authors. News comes now that theatergoers will soon have the pleasurable opportunity of viewing a new Vollmer play, a successor to "Sun-Up," that popular production which first focused the attention of the dramatic world upon the gifted southerner. For about the middle of September a drama under the title of "The Honor and the Glory" will go into rehearsal and will subsequently, without doubt, take place among current Broadway successes.

With the scene laid in her beloved Southland, the author chooses as the theme for her play the impassioned loyalty existing between the real southern negro and the representative white man of the true south. The story is built around an old negro woman, a typical "colored mammy," and her son, who are employed as servants and hold sway over a white-pillared mansion of an aristocratic southern family. The theme admits of intense dramatic action when the question of loyalty of the one race to the other is at stake; and in her characteristic simple but effective style, Miss Vollmer has handled the plot so as to present an honest picture of a situation so vital to the south.

That talented southerner, Lucile La Verne, who was first starred in "Sun-Up" and carried it to such success in both the New York and London presentations, will take the leading role. And the play will be under the capable direction of two well-known producers, Walter Batchelor and Danny Darc—all of which further assures its success when it opens on Broadway. Miss La Verne, who first

IRENE DUNNE of "Cimarron" Fame says:

"When I use Kleenex I have no fears..."

I know it removes both creams and cosmetics safely!

A REMARKABLE career! First opera... then musical comedy... then brilliant triumph in the screen play "Cimarron." Her stage and operatic training brought sure technique to her work in moving pictures.

In the technique of beauty Irene Dunne is equally experienced.

Kleenex is best

"There's no doubt in my mind about the best way of removing cold cream. That's Kleenex. I am devoted to Kleenex because I am certain it protects against two grave beauty dangers—the danger of leaving particles of dirt and cold cream in the pores—and the danger of carrying germs to the skin through the use of unsanitary towels or cloths."

Kleenex is utterly unlike any tissue substance you have known. Amazingly soft. Downy of surface. Cloth-like of texture. And scientifically made to absorb with unique speed and efficiency.

Without this absorbency, cream and impurities remain stubbornly in the pores. Unseen, perhaps, but ultimately disastrous to complexion beauty.

Such authorities as Miss Dunne emphasize the importance of Kleenex. You, too, must insist on genuine Kleenex for the real Kleenex absorbency.

Many important uses

Kleenex is invaluable in the nursery. It saves towels when mauling. Motorists like to keep a package always in the automobile.

Kleenex packages are Cellophane-wrapped for perfect cleanliness, and are designed to permit removal of tissues easily with one hand. All drug, dry goods and department stores sell Kleenex.

IF YOU HAVE HAY FEVER... use Kleenex instead of handkerchiefs! You use each tissue just once, and thus have a fresh, dry one every time—so essential to comfort. Kleenex actually costs less than laundering.

FRIENDLY COUNSEL BY CAROLINE CHATFIELD

Problems of general interest submitted by readers will be discussed in this column. Correspondence invited. Your name held in confidence. Write Miss Chatfield, care The Atlanta Constitution.

Here is a letter which seems to me to be as good an exegesis of the Golden Rule as one need read. Nobody, no matter how blasphemous, no matter how cynical, no matter how religious, but respects the philosophy of the Golden Rule. Even the man whom I have quoted before as saying that he would "monkey with the ten commandments," ended his boast by assuring his listeners that he was not a bad sort, as proven by the fact that he always treated his fellow man fairly and squarely. Even that man said he arrived at his thought of what was fair and square by the application of the Golden Rule. The letter follows:

When I became engaged to be married I lay awake half the night for I realized that marriage was a serious undertaking. Then and there I formulated a rule of conduct. I determined that I would be fair. I determined that I would constantly say to myself: "Am I fair? Is it fair? Was it fair? Later I added the determination to treat my wife with the same careful courtesy that I would treat any other lady. As I grow old I am filled with shame over my many failures but with joy, too, over the progress I have made as the years increase.

But I wonder how any man or any woman can be fair and just to the people who pass through the courts of their hearts unless they are constantly testing their scales to see that they are up to standard requirements. In my state the law provides for an inspector whose duty it is to visit the stores where scales are used in selling foods and other commodities. Only recently a report was published giving the number of scales that were discarded because they couldn't be adjusted properly and the number of those which were reconditioned.

Careful courtesy is a fine thing to boast about. But you do know, don't you, that courtesy can be as cold as ice? It can be as forbidding as a glacier. One may have his pantry full of courtesy and freeze to death. One may have his whole house full of courtesy and wish he were dead.

We all want courtesy from our husbands and wives. We presuppose fairness from them. But unless those husbands and wives have a standard which is a non-variant, a standard by which they may check their conduct, they may get courtesy but no fairness. "Do unto others as you would have them do unto you" in business means: Give the man his money's worth. Don't short-change him. In the courts it means show as much mercy as is consistent with justice. For you will some day want the Golden Rule in marriage. Love is this means something over and above all that. It means "Love me as you want to be loved, deeply, loyally, constantly, exclusively." This is the only standard by which a husband can measure fairness to his wife.

CAROLINE CHATFIELD.

Culbertson on Contract

Winning by Force

Squeeze plays, or rather the opportunity for squeeze plays, occur frequently at the Bridge table. There is scarcely a session of Bridge of three or four hours' duration in which through the use of a squeeze a contract otherwise unobtainable could not have been made. The squeeze play, as the term is used in Bridge, defines the forcing of the discard of a winning card by one or both opponents. Sometimes the situation arises in which winning cards can be forced out of both adverse hands. At other times it is only necessary to apply the pressure against one adversary. Such plays as these occur, of course, through the running of a long suit, generally the trump suit, if there is a trump, or an established suit at no-trump. It is conservative to say that half of the time, even among the stronger Contract players, the opportunity to use this play occurs more than twice as frequently as does the forcing of the discard of a winning card. The squeeze situation generally must be recognized long in advance of the actual play itself and the ground work properly laid for its application.

Today's hand aptly illustrates a simple pressure squeeze whereby, through discarding, the opponents were rendered helpless and forced to concede to the Declarer a Contract that on its face might appear unmakeable.

The Bidding:
(The figures after bids in table refer to numbered explanatory paragraphs.)

South West North East
♠ (1) Pass Pass Pass

With diamonds as trump South's hand contains 8 playing tricks. Against an adverse declaration it might not produce more than one. The hand, therefore, is an ideal pre-emptive bid. As North and South are not vulnerable, the set cannot be more than 3 tricks, even although North's hand was an absolute blank. The weakness in spades and hearts both suggest the probability of an adverse game if South is to suffer this maximum penalty. The bid is therefore both sound and accurate.

West gazed regretfully at his six-card spade suit and outside honor strength, but the dangers of over-bidding were too real to be ignored. North, of course, was not tempted by his two Aces and raised the bid to an unmakeable Slam and East's hand was far from warranting any bidding whatever.

In the play, West opened with the spade King. This was won by the Ace in Dummy and the diamond led. West was in the lead and in considerable difficulty as to the selection of a continuation. Another lead of spades was dangerous and might prove fatal. To lead the clubs would provide South with a ready-made finesse. The diamond return seemed pointless, and so West selected what was probably his best lead, namely, a heart. This South won with the Ace and then proceeded to play seven rounds

FLIP IGNORES TWITCHTAIL.

BY THORNTON W. BURGESS.
You'll find 'tis often well if you Can get another's point of view.

To ignore another person is to pay no attention to him; to act as if he wasn't there about. Flip the Terrier, whose one ambition in life had been to catch Twitchtail the Squirrel, suddenly began to act as if there was no such person in all the Great World as Twitchtail. Farmer Brown's Boy couldn't understand it at all. He began to wonder if Flip was sick. If Twitchtail suddenly popped up out of the grass just ahead of Flip would turn his head and pretend not to see him. Never before had Flip acted like this. Boy knew him to act like this.

But Flip wasn't sick. No, sir, he wasn't sick at all. He had simply done a lot of thinking. It had all come about as a result of the fright Talons the Golden Eagle had given him when both had tried to catch Twitchtail at the same time and Flip had broken his own record for speed in getting back to the house. There in a dark corner of a shed he had panted for breath and shivered with the great hooked bill and curved claws had given him. Little by little he had put himself in Twitchtail's place and found his point of view.

"That fellow wasn't after me," he was after Twitchtail, and I guess he had done for me. I had simply been for me," thought Flip. "My, I would have to have that terrible fellow hunting for me every day! I really didn't think of it. I had chased him just for fun. I didn't need him for food. I had no real reason for killing him. It wouldn't have done me any good if I had caught and killed him. My, I should have to have people hunting for me every day, and feel that I couldn't move without watching for enemies. I guess Twitchtail has plenty of them, and I have been just one more to add to his troubles. I'll leave him alone after this. I know now what it is to run for my life. I never did know before. I'll leave Twitchtail alone after this. I don't really want him. Yes, sir, I'll leave him alone. It will make life easier for him. Besides, it may keep me out of trouble." He shivered as he remembered the terrible bill and claws, the great, powerful wings and the fierce eyes of Talons the Eagle.

Twitchtail, on his part, had also designed a lesson. "It is a wonder I am alive," said Twitchtail to Mrs. Twitchtail. "I was so intent on teasing that silly dog that I never once thought of my own danger. My, I never have had a worse fright."

ALIEN EXODUS EXCEEDS IMMIGRATION BY FAR

WASHINGTON, Sept. 2.—(AP)—Seven emigrants left the United States in July for every three immigrants admitted.

The labor department said today the total admissions of immigrant aliens during the month was 3,114, while departures totaled 7,428.

During June 3,534 immigrants were admitted and 5,893 departed. In July last year 13,323 aliens were admitted and 16,811 departed.

Women immigrants outnumbered men almost two to one.

Women Are Arrested For Fight Over Date

HOUSTON, Sept. 2.—(AP)—Police today said they arrested two young women who engaged in a fist fight on a street corner last night to decide who would furnish the automobile ride with a man with whom both had dates. They said the man, whose name was not learned, fled in his car while the fight was in progress.

The women after being reprimanded by police were returned to their homes.

CHICAGO BANK CHECKS ON EMBEZZLED FUNDS

Official's Shortage Expected To Be Near $2,500,000 Mark.

CHICAGO, Sept. 2.—(AP)—Peculations of Walter E. Wolf, a veteran employee, from the Continental Illinois Bank & Trust Company were estimated today at $2,500,000 as an audit was being made to determine the exact amount.

Wolf, who confessed embezzling funds to enable him to speculate, was held by private detectives in a hotel. Neither Wolf nor the bank's officials, many of whom had worked with him 20 years, could tell how much he had stolen. One high official said the best estimate was $2,500,000.

A large portion of this is believed still in the hands of brokers with whom Wolf placed it as margin for stock market speculations. Liabilities, however, had insured the bank against such losses for $2,000,000 and was expected to establish title to bonds now in brokers' hands.

The first embezzlement occurred in 1919, according to Wolf's reported confession, and small amounts were used from time to time as margin. In the 1929 market crash, he was called upon for more margins. His market losses grew by leaps and bounds and the embezzlements grew correspondingly larger.

As manager of the coupon department, Wolf handled a constant stream of gilt-edged securities. When he took a bond, he also took the bank's record of it so an audit would show no loss. Whenever bonds were called for, he would get them back from the brokers and convert others to his own use. A family man who apparently lived well within his income of around $5,000 a year, Wolf, who is 42, his wife and their 13-year-old daughter live in a seven-room rented home.

A broker who decided to investigate the customer's apparently unlimited collateral at his disposal was responsible for discovery of the peculations and Wolf's subsequent confession. The broker reported to a bank officer that Wolf, a comparatively minor employee, had a large stock market account and the investigation followed.

SEATTLE MAN HELD IN FIRM'S SHORTAGE

HOT SPRINGS, Ark., Sept. 2.—(AP)—Paul E. Williams, Seattle broker, today was held under $10,000 bond for appearance September 10 at a bankers' corpus hearing on a charge of grand larceny preferred by Seattle officers. Williams, who had been here months of the time during the five months Seattle officers have been searching for him, was arrested yesterday.

Local officers said they were informed by Seattle authorities that Williams' shortages in various accounts carried by his brokerage house would run $400,000 more than $1,000,000.

ANTI-CHINESE RIOTS FLARE IN PHILIPPINES

MANILA, Sept. 2.—(AP)—Three squads of constabulary reserves were rushed from Manila today to help suppress anti-Chinese riots at Gapan and other towns in Nueva Ecija province. No fatalities were reported.

The riots were the outgrowth of the alleged disappearance of a Chinese watchman owner and several hundred thousand pesos worth of rice belonging to the people.

Florida's 'Hobo Express' Makes First Year's Trip

PALM BEACH, Fla., Sept. 2.—(AP)—A lawyer and two well-dressed college youths, were passengers on Florida's "Hobo express" which made its initial run of the season northward today.

The express, a small fleet of trucks operated by sheriffs of Florida east coast counties, operates annually to keep persons without visible means of support from complicating the winter unemployment situation. It has never run so early before.

From Miami northward, each county transports such undesirable to the northern county line and discharges them. They are picked up at once by the sheriff of that county and hurried to the next county line.

The first express of 1931 was operated by Dade, Broward and Palm Beach counties. It dumped 12 persons, including the lawyer and college men, near the Martin county line about 20 miles north of here.

BUFFALO BILL JR. ON EMPIRE STAGE

Buffalo Bill Jr., the western screen star, will be the guest today of the Empire theater and will appear on the stage at the afternoon and evening performances.

The feature screen attraction at the Georgia Avenue and Crow Street theaters today is "Disheveled" with Victor McLaglen and Marlene Dietrich, while Friday finds the feature "Parlor, Bedroom and Bath," starring Buster Keaton, supported by Cliff Edwards, Reginald Denny, Charlotte Greenwood and Joan Peers.

Charlie Black and Yates Lead Advance in City Golf Tourney; All But Two Seeded Contestants Are Eliminated at Beverly

Things you'll hear around places, if you go around places and listen, are—

Billy Howell, of Richmond, Va., is the best amateur golfer in the south, now that Bobby Jones has quit the game. They were saying that even before he won his two matches Wednesday in the national amateur, beating Johnny Goodman and Owen Covey. And they'll stick to their story if he should lose today. Howell has won a number of minor championships. He qualified at Chattanooga in the south, but was eliminated. He is 19 years old and has been playing for years.

If Francis Ouimet, the champion of 1914, should win his victory he would be about as popular a one as the tournament could offer. There is always a lot of sympathy for an old-timer coming back. Ouimet looked great winning twice Wednesday.

Joe Williams, of the World-Telegram, said after watching the start of the tournament at Beverly by Bobby Jones in the gallery, "I think the best way to start the story of the finals would be to say: 'While the greatest golfer of all time stood on the sidelines today two boys fought it out for the national amateur golf championship.'" Joe was angry because the boys so soon forget the champions once they retire.

The Chicago baseball writers, some of them, are saying that six men on the Cub machine, who can't get along with Rogers Hornsby, will be sold or traded this winter. Leo Hartnett, Riggs Stephenson, Kiki Cuyler, Hack Wilson and another player or so are the ones listed. Wonder how Joe McCarthy feels about it?

And over in Brooklyn the word is that Your Uncle Wilbert Robinson may keep his job after all. The two factions there, the Ebets heirs and the Steve McKeever group, are at war again. McKeever persuaded the Ebets heirs to spend $300,000 on a new addition to the plant.

It wasn't needed and the interest is heavy. So they are saying that strictly as a matter of revenge the Ebets faction will insist on Your Uncle Wilbert being retained, just to make McKeever burn.

It was about the McKeever-Robinson duel that Westbrook Pegler said: "They ought to throw both of them in a vat of beer so they would have to drink each other out or drown."

BUCK REDFERN BETS ON BARRON.

The best story out of baseball this week is from Little Rock about the French-Barron footrace which Barron won.

Buck Redfern, Little Rock shortstop, went into the clubhouse and got his bank roll when he heard about the race. He put it all on Barron.

"I saw that boy carry a football and I know what he can do," said Redfern, as he put the money down on Barron against his own team-mate.

Redfern actually got down more than $100 on Barron, the Little Rock players thinking French, much younger, to be a "mortal."

Benny Rothstein was in the race, too, and he bumped Barron at the start. Red pulled out and won by a foot. He ran the 75 yards in eight seconds, which isn't bad at all for a ball player in uniform.

Redfern cleaned up, and they do say his chuckles were the only noise to be heard in the Little Rock clubhouse.

There is to be a footrace today at Spiller field between Si Rosenthal and Benny Rothstein.

RIGHT OFF THE LINKS.

Bob Martin, president of the City Golf Association, was telling a story Wednesday at the first tee at Druid Hills, where the city tournament is in progress. It concerned a lawyer friend who was so nervous while getting ready to putt that he could not endure the slightest move on the part of his caddy.

"One day during a match," said Martin, "this lawyer needed a putt to square a match. He took his putter and then made the caddy go lie down in a deep bunker where he couldn't be seen.

"He then lined up his putt, tapped it and saw it miss the hole. "I'll bet you moved anyhow," he yelled at his invisible but terrified caddy."

A GREAT MAT CARD.

It is quite a wrestling card—one which has been announced for next week. O'Shocker, Jones, Sauer (Ray Steele) and Roebuck all on one card make it an unusually attractive one.

Charley Rentrop will stage it for Henry Weber, local matchmaker, who is on his way back from Europe. Weber will arrive in New York September 10 and in Atlanta a day or so later.

With the wrestling and fight games going good Atlanta is in for a good winter so far as sport is concerned.

EVER FEED A FIGHTER?

Bill Alger, whose appetite almost caused Promoter Ivan (The Terrible) Douglas, Griffin promoter, to go to jail, will fight here Friday night. Billy Alger, a Cherokee Indian, has beat Ace Hudkins twice, Jack Thompson once, Sergeant Sammy Baker twice and a host of other fighters. He ate enough steak at Griffin to be powerful enough to worry Southpaw Sammy Baker Friday night. And I do hope Ivan (The Terrible) Douglas will never feed a wrestler. They would probably send a posse after him.

Boat Races Added To Monday Events

Boat racing, with three events scheduled, has been added to the free program scheduled for Labor Day at Lakewood park, it was announced yesterday by officials.

With the addition of the boat races there will be three automobile racing events and 14 other events, including a number of novelty affairs on the program.

Jack Arzo, who filed his entry for the auto races, will arrive today and begin preparation for the races on Saturday at Savannah last Saturday, in cannon.

Claude Smith, leader of the free-for-all motorboat races in the south and winner of the feature event in the races at Savannah last Saturday, is the first boat entry to be recorded.

Tallahassee Wins Thomasville Series

Yankees Purchase Aube From Albany

NEW YORK, Sept. 2.—(UP)—Purchase of Horridus Aube, a right-hand pitcher, who has been owned by the Albany club, was announced today by the New York Yankees.

Payment will be made in cash and players. Aube will report to the Yankees at Washington on Friday.

CHARLIE BLACK, YATES ADVANCE IN CITY TOURNEY

Dave Black Is Beaten in First Round at Druid Hills.

By Roy White.

Charlie Black Jr., defending champion, and Charlie Yates Jr., medalist, advanced to the second round of the annual Atlanta amateur tournament with well-earned victories Wednesday afternoon on the Druid Hills course. Black defeated Jim Ison, a fellow Capital City Club member, 4-3, and Yates eliminated John Grant Jr., another Capital City star, 3-1.

Robin Adair, Tommy Barnes, a municipal player, and Dana Belser supplied the excitement and upset of the first round. Adair, after being 2 down at the turn, rallied to beat Dave Black, a former Georgia amateur champion, 2-1. Barnes trailed Dr. Williams until the 15th, where he rallied and won three successive holes to close out the match, 2-1.

SEVENTH-ROUND BATTLE. Belser eliminated Charlie Dannels Jr. on the 19th green after a sensational fight on the 18th hole by Dannels and Pete Barnes, a Junior Chamber of Commerce champion, was forced to win the last four holes to beat John Willis and remain in the tournament.

Chick Ridley, a veteran playing in his first tournament of recent years, played a spectacular iron game to beat Carey Baker, 7-5.

Wednesday's play, particularly on the last nine holes, was all the spectator could ask for in one afternoon. Yates led the way with a great shot, probably his best of the day, at the 12th. He was directly behind a tree and used a brassie to hook the ball onto the green, where he made his par 4. He had a medal of 68 for 37 holes, one over par. Dannels played one of the best shots of the entire first round on the 18th. His second was sliced and landed on the tree. A spectator stepped on it, leaving the ball partially buried. Dannels played a brilliant iron over the drink stand, through the trees and on the green.

BALL HITS TREE. The ball hit a small tree on the edge of the fairway and bounced back on the green, where he took two putts and won the hole. It squared the match. A slice to the rough and a second to the right of the green spoiled Dannels' chance for victory on the 19th as Belser's second was a few feet short of the cup.

Chick Ridley carried a 35, one over par, to lead Baker in the tournament. He continued a great game and soon closed out the match.

Don Sage Jr. played one of his best rounds to close out Frank Owens Jr. in the 13th green. Sage was even with par for the distance.

SPECTACULAR GOLF. In eliminating Dave Black, Robin Adair played spectacular golf. He was 2 down at 12, but rallied and won out, 2-1, with several excellent iron shots to the green.

Keith Conway, vice president of the Atlanta City Golf Association and chairman of the tournament committee, played the longest match of the day. He lost to J. A. Dodd on the 21st green, in the second division.

Second-round matches will be played today with the championship flight scheduled to start at 1:10 o'clock. Black meets Al Floyd, while Yates plays the veteran Ridley in the first round.

THIRD DIVISION. Charlie Black Jr. beat Jim Ison, 4-3. Al Floyd beat Dave Black, 1 up. Pete Barnes beat John Willis, 1 up. John Adair beat Tommy Barnes, 2-1. Dick Garlington beat Dr. M. D. Huff, 6-5. Robin Adair beat John Grant Jr., 3-1. Chick Ridley beat Carey Baker, 7-5. Dana Belser beat John Willis, 2-1. Dan Sage Jr. beat Frank Owens, 6-5. Dana Belser beat Charlie Dannels Jr., 1 up, 19 holes.

Tommy Barnes beat W. C. Warren, 2-1. Tully Walsh beat Dr. C. D. Clark, 1 up. Julius Hughes beat Eggs Brown, 1 up.

SECOND DIVISION. Mike Benton won from Harvey Hill by default. Johnny Wilson won from G. E. Floyd by default.

John Jones beat H. J. Garlick, 5-2. Frank Armstrong beat Ray Browne, 5-4. Ed Moore beat J. J. Owens, 2-1. Dodge Menzies beat Elliott Hest, 3-1. Fred Park beat Jack Broadwater, 4-3. H. F. Whitner beat Chester Ryals, 2-1. S. P. South beat Gene Dahlberg, 2 up. Park McLarty beat Frank Freeman, 2 up. J. A. Dodd beat Dick Conway, 1 up, 19 holes.

Tommy Barnes beat John Pickett, 4-3. Harry Fryckberg beat Bob Robinson, 3-1. Ed Moore beat J. J. Owens, 2 up. Norman Elks beat Jesse Draper, 2 up. J. J. Jones Jr. beat Stanley Helditch, 2-1.

THIRD DIVISION. Robert Schwab Jr. beat Fitzhugh Knox Jr., 2-1. Gene Black won from J. W. Simmons by default.

R. W. Wagner beat Gene Gillard, 4-3. Chess Lacaschino won from Norris Broyles by default.

Metro Golf Body Is Big Ambition Of Atlanta Men

By Ralph McGill.

A metropolitan golf association for the Atlanta district is the ambition of Bob Martin and his associates in the City Golf Association.

The metropolitan tournament would then become a tournament secondary only to the southern amateur. It would create unusual interest in tournament golf in this district.

"I don't know when we will be able to expand into a metropolitan organization," said Mr. Martin Wednesday, "but we hope to do so in the future."

LARGER TOURNEY. "This would produce a larger tournament and one of unusual interest. I am writing the Metropolitan Association in New York for a copy of their constitution and by-laws so that we can discover what their plans are."

The City Golf Association, which is in the City Golf Association, W. Martin, who works at a plan whereby all handicaps will be ascertained alike so that our handicaps may be registered from this district.

The City Golf Association, which is filling a need of some years, has proved an immediate success.

EVEN BIGGER. Keith Conway, vice president, and Martin said Wednesday that within a few years the association should be made of an attraction that it is at present.

The finances are in excellent condition and there is every indication that the first year will find the association with a small surplus.

Martin, Conway and Kingston, secretary, have all accomplished a great deal this summer. Their plans for the future indicate the golf in Georgia and the Georgia district is in for a boom. W. V. Kingston has done great work. It would be difficult to find three better officers.

WILMER ALLISON AND VAN RYN WIN

Pair Add American Doubles Title From Bell and Mangin.

By Bill King.

BROOKLINE, Mass., Sept. 2.—(AP) Wilmer Allison and Johnny Van Ryn defeated John Bell and Frank Mangin, 2-1, today to win the American doubles title.

The victory placed Van Ryn on the American championship list for the first time. His smooth-striking partner, however, made it just year when he won the national mixed championship with Edith Cross, of San Francisco.

Allison whipped over 21 placements today with his favorite overhead smash and those points, more than any other factor, were responsible for the victory.

The Texan's service was unbreakable and he was the steadiest of the quartet, holding his errors to 24 against 30 for Van Ryn, as many for Bell and 41 for Mangin.

Mangin was leading twice as often as many of the others and those errors, when added to Allison's earned points, were responsible for the speedy defeat of the New York-New Jersey combination. Bell often gambled with his terrific service, which gave him a total of nine aces during the three sets, and in so doing made double-faults that led to costly breaks in the second and third frames.

Allison and Van Ryn became finalists yesterday by defeating Clifford Sutter, New Orleans, and Bruce Barnes, Austin, Texas.

Mangin and Bell qualified for the final round by taking a five-set match from the American internationalists, Sidney Wood and Frank X. Shields, of New York.

Perry Is Victor At Philadelphia. PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 2.—(AP)—Frederick Perry, of England, today swept to another tennis victory on the Germantown Cricket Club courts to win for his native land the international tennis series between the United States, England and France.

Continuing his play of yesterday, when he defeated Ellsworth Vines, of Pasadena, Cal., leader of the younger American players, Perry triumphed over Andre Merling, 19-year-old Frenchman, 6-1, 7-5, to score the fourth and winning point.

Perry Hughes, Perry's fellow countryman, defeated Marcel Bernard yesterday.

BOYNTON, BOYKIN LOSE MATCHES IN STATE MEET

Hines, Reese, Halverstadt in Quarter-Finals of Macon Finals.

MACON, Ga., Sept. 2.—(AP)—George Boynton, Atlanta, and Jimmy Stephenson, Macon, seeded No. 7 and 8, respectively, in the men's singles of the Georgia tennis tournament, were the only favorites who fell by the wayside in the third-round matches at Baconfield courts today.

Boynton lost to the lanky University of Alabama player, Robert Little, of Tuscaloosa, 7-5, 6-2, and Stephenson was beaten by the Minor, Atlanta, in straight sets, 6-4, 6-2.

Wilder Hines, of Columbia, favorite to win the title vacated by Bryan Grant Jr., Atlanta, again found stern opposition, but managed to win in straight sets from Hamilton Napier, Macon, 8-6, 6-2.

Napier put up a great struggle in the first set, but, unaccountably, tournament play, he weakened in the final set.

Jack Boykin, University of Georgia ace, who lives in Atlanta, met defeat in the hands of E. F. Shumard, Lakeland, Fla., seeded No. 5, 7-6, 6-1.

Tomorrow Hines will find keen opposition in Harry Shuford, of Hickory, N. C., in a quarter-final match. The two met at 3:30. At 2:30 the other three quarter-final matches of the men's singles will be played. Riley Reese, of Macon, will be the first to play, against Robert Little.

Arthur Hendrix playing Jack Simpson, and Ike Minor encountering Jimmy Halverstadt.

Arthur Hendrix, Lakeland; Tom Tumlin, Atlanta; Pierre Howard, Atlanta; George Boynton, Atlanta; Wade Hoyt, Rome, and Burtz Boulware, Tampa, were seeded players in the junior singles who advanced to the quarter-finals.

Jack Morris, Atlanta, unseeded, defeated E. F. Shumard, Macon, Tenn., seeded No. 8, in the only upset.

Billy Beggs is the only Macon player left in any of the singles events. Beggs beat Worth Taylor, Atlanta, 10-8, 6-3, today in the quarter-finals.

Doubles play in all three events got under way today but a number of first-round matches were not played. They will be worked in today along with the second-round matches. The second round will be played exclusively from now on until the end of the tournament Saturday.

If rain, threatened by the weatherman tonight, does not interfere, the semi-finals in all events will be held Friday and the finals Saturday.

RESULTS FOLLOW: Third Round. Billy Beggs, Atlanta, seeded No. 2, defeated John Morris, Macon, 6-2, 6-3. Robert Little, Lakeland, seeded No. 6, defeated Jack Boykin, Atlanta, 7-6, 6-1. Arthur Hendrix, Lakeland, seeded No. 5, defeated Jack Simpson, Macon, 6-2, 6-1. George Boynton, Atlanta, seeded No. 7, defeated Jimmy Stephenson, Macon, 7-5, 6-2. Wade Hoyt, Rome, seeded No. 4, defeated Burtz Boulware, Tampa, 6-4, 6-2. Wilmer Allison, Brookline, Mass., seeded No. 1, defeated John Bell, New York, 2-1. Johnny Van Ryn, New York, seeded No. 2, defeated Frank Mangin, New York, 2-1. Fred Park, New York, seeded No. 3, defeated Jack Broadwater, New York, 4-3. H. F. Whitner, New York, seeded No. 4, defeated Chester Ryals, New York, 2-1. S. P. South, New York, seeded No. 5, defeated Gene Dahlberg, New York, 2 up. Park McLarty, New York, seeded No. 6, defeated Frank Freeman, New York, 2 up. J. A. Dodd, New York, seeded No. 7, defeated Dick Conway, New York, 1 up, 19 holes.

SECOND ROUND. Arthur Hendrix, Lakeland, seeded No. 5, defeated Jack Simpson, Macon, 6-2, 6-1. George Boynton, Atlanta, seeded No. 7, defeated Jimmy Stephenson, Macon, 7-5, 6-2. Wade Hoyt, Rome, seeded No. 4, defeated Burtz Boulware, Tampa, 6-4, 6-2. Wilmer Allison, Brookline, Mass., seeded No. 1, defeated John Bell, New York, 2-1. Johnny Van Ryn, New York, seeded No. 2, defeated Frank Mangin, New York, 2-1. Fred Park, New York, seeded No. 3, defeated Jack Broadwater, New York, 4-3. H. F. Whitner, New York, seeded No. 4, defeated Chester Ryals, New York, 2-1. S. P. South, New York, seeded No. 5, defeated Gene Dahlberg, New York, 2 up. Park McLarty, New York, seeded No. 6, defeated Frank Freeman, New York, 2 up. J. A. Dodd, New York, seeded No. 7, defeated Dick Conway, New York, 1 up, 19 holes.

THIRD DIVISION. Robert Schwab Jr., beat Fitzhugh Knox Jr., 2-1. Gene Black won from J. W. Simmons by default.

They Made It Go Big

Keith Conway, left, and Bob Martin, vice president and president, respectively, of the City Golf Association, are delighted at the success of the tournament. More than 150 players entered and the caliber of play is high. They are shown watching the play at Druid Hills, where the tournament is being held and where Harry Stephens is doing a great job getting the players off on time. Photo by Sandy Sanders.

Close-Up of 'Rasslin' Is Given by Rentrop

Many Holds That Hurt Most Go Unseen, Says Veteran Promoter.

By Jimmy Jones.

The manly sport of wrestling, according to your Uncle Charlie Rentrop, is not a science to be giggled at, but really calls for some very deep thinking. And to show one that he is serious about the matter, Charlie is more than willing to give a personal demonstration of a few simple little tricks that cause him to snort and writhe with pain.

A spectator who had seen a wrestler leap suddenly upward from a prone position and yell as though he had been bitten by something, asked Charlie to explain what made him act that way. And of course Charlie was glad to oblige.

"The most painful holds in wrestling are not always visible to the crowd," said Charlie, "and sometimes the mere bending of a finger or knocking of a collar bone will break the cruellest hold. And with the saying, 'Charlie Rentrop grasped a layman's hand and gave it a slight twist, Charlie as good as won his argument right there."

"The mere prod of a forefinger makes 'em jump," said Charlie. But everybody jumped before Charlie could try it.

The subject of massaging the spine next was discussed by Professor Rentrop, and he proved that that also was no mere Harlequin gesture.

Don't ever think that wrestling doesn't hurt. All those facial contortions are not staged. If you doubt it just let Charlie Rentrop get you before a mirror.

It also is Professor Rentrop's theory that present-day wrestlers have more opposition than those of the old school. "Take George Gotch," he said, "he was a great wrestler. But outside of Dr. Roller, Westergard and a few others, who did he have to meet? All the foreigners that came over knew only Greek-Roman and Gotch ate them up. Now the Europeans come over and their managers won't throw them into a match without first teaching them the catch-as-catch-can science."

Although retired now, Charlie Rentrop has seen his days as a wrestler. He was the first to invade Turkey and there he met Gama, the champion, and was defeated.

"I made the mistake of looking at the sun," explained Charlie. In case you don't exactly understand this, in the orient the rules of wrestling are different and a gladiator is considered a vanquished man if he touches the ground, or if he is pushed out of the dirt circle in which all matches are held or if he looks up at the sun.

Just what the sun has to do with it, maybe the Turks can explain. At any rate, Charlie Rentrop looked at the sun and he was a beaten man. But Charlie Rentrop, barrel-chested, a little bald but still a powerful man, admits the modern game of grapplers. He admires Paul Jones, who invested his money in a flourishing floral business in his home town of Houston.

He thinks Jim Lomas a greater and more scientific champion than Strangler Lewis. He rates Ray Steele and Jim McMillen as next to the champ.

And don't forget what Professor Rentrop says about the invisible holds of the game. They can be had at Chandler Soda Fountain and the Whitcomb Hotel.

"The mere prod of a finger will make 'em jump," said Charlie. But everybody jumped before Charlie could try it.

FRANCIS OUIMET ONLY FAVORITE LEFT IN TOURNEY

McCarthy Only Other Seeded Star Left. Howell Shines.

By Alan Gould.

Associated Press Sports Editor.

BEVERLY COUNTRY CLUB, CHICAGO, Sept. 2.—(AP)—Shame, the outset by a series of high-explosive upsets and then swept by a cloudburst of rain, the first two rounds of the match play for the amateur golf championship of the United States ended today with a dramatic flourish.

In the wide-open scramble for the title relinquished by Bobby Jones, six of eight "seeded" competitors were abruptly eliminated from the picture, all but two of the tournament newcomers were turned back and the last foreign contender, Ross Somerville, of Canada, was put out of the running.

The youths that have been riding so high so far gave way to one of the old masters, Francis Ouimet, of Boston. The "boy wonder" of nearly two decades ago, champion in 1914, Ouimet turned in a sensational comeback as he led six survivors of the qualifying field of 32 through two triumphs and into the quarter-final round of the championship.

OUIMET WINS. Ouimet, with some of the most brilliant golf of the day, disposed of Johnny Shields, of Seattle, 4 and 3, in the first round, then ousted Frank Connolly, of Mount Clemens, Mich., 5 and 4, to move forward as the outstanding contender left in the championship chase.

The veteran Bostonian and Maurice J. McCarthy Jr., the black-haired New York overraker, were the only survivors of the "seeded" order. McCarthy had to stage the most sensational comeback of the day to escape elimination after being first round out by a 3 and 2 over Russell Martin, Chicago, 1 up, and then pounded out an easy second-round victory over Emmett Spicer Jr., Memphis, 5 and 3, while the thunder rolled in the afternoon.

Meanwhile, favorites tumbled into defeat all over the battle ground of the utterly. Five of the "seeded" starters were out of the first round, including George Voigt, of New York; Johnny Lehman, of Chicago, the first round out; and Charles Seaver, of Los Angeles, and Gene Homans, of Englewood, N. J. The sixth and last to fall was George Dunlap, of New York, who bowed to the sharp-shooting Jack Westland, Chicago, 3 and 2, in the second round.

SEVENTH-ROUND VIRGINIAN. Goodman was a victim of the most spectacular youngster of the tournament, 19-year-old Billy Howell, of Richmond, the Virginia state champion. Howell, with a display of golf worthy of the most seasoned campaigner, vanquished Goodman, 2 and 1, and then took the measure of Owen Covey, Salt Lake City, and won, 2 and 1, before the superlative golf of Dick Martin, of Chicago, the Big Ten titleholder, 2 and 1. After this upsurge, Martin stepped into the closing of the second round, where he was again defeated, 3 and 2, by the young star, who won the extra hole battle of the day.

Seaver's defeat was not so startling, for he lost only one hole, but it was one of the medalist trio, Arthur (Ducky) Yates, of Rochester, N. Y. It went to the 15th hole, where he was again defeated, 3 and 2, by the young star, who won the extra hole battle of the day.

Seaver's defeat was not so startling, for he lost only one hole, but it was one of the medalist trio, Arthur (Ducky) Yates

TARZAN AT THE EARTH'S CORE No. 82

Down into one of the gloomy aisles of the forest, Tarzan of the Apes dropped as from heaven into the astonished view of ten stalwart warriors. For an instant they stood looking at him in disbelief, then they ran forward, threw themselves upon their knees about him, kissing his hands as they shed tears of happiness. "I have worked for you, my Waziri," said the ape-man. "The lizard-people are coming and with them is a girl they have captured."
